It's Marble Time Despite Falling Snow

—By Bulletin Staff Cameraman

He uses the knuckle shot off the point of his index finger and any old "dib" player can remember from his school days that this is a deadly shot when performed by an expert. From the keen way in which Clarence Normey, left, of 9514 101A avenue, sights his agate it is pretty nearly a cinch that one of the dibs in the ring is about to be smacked right on the noggin. Lionel Valentine, right, of the Sadie Apartments, 10434 95 street, is laying out his plan of fire. The boys don't give a rip for the weather—it's the marble season and they are having a game. The Bulletin's cameraman snapped them as they played in falling snow Tuesday night on the south side of Jasper avenue, just 30 paces east of 101 street.

BRITISH AIR, LAND DEFENCES SMASH NAZI BOMBING RAIDS

PARIS, April 3.—Heavy French guns once more pounded German artillery units after Nazi batteries opened fire on Allied positions on the western front. Military informants reported that the bitterest artillery fire was taking place in the Nied sector and at a point west of the Vosges mountains. Meanwhile both sides continued their machine gun duels from opposite banks of the Rhine river. The French admitted that one of their planes had been forced down in neutral territory in Luxembourg where the pilot will probably be interned.

LONDON, April 3.—The British Admiralty discloses today how British air and land defences had smashed last night's German bombing raid on the former British naval base at Scapa Flow.

Only casualties in the attack—staged by mass flights of German Heinkels — were civilians who escaped with wounds. The Admiralty said that the German attack had been broken up after a few bombs had been dropped in Scapa Flow—missing the few warships that Britain still retains there.

Eyewitnesses said that R.A.F. interceptor planes and ship and shore gun batteries poured such a heavy curtain of lead and high explosive at the raiders that the 20 Nazi craft were forced to turn back to sea, one of them apparently crashing out of control.

One of the German bombs fell on land injuring possibly three civilians. The remainder dropped harmlessly into the water.

The effectiveness of the British defense was shown by the fact that fierce anti-aircraft fire was heard long before the Germans managed to jockey their planes into position for bomb dropping above the base.

Further British aerial victories were reported from the Western Front today after a handful of R.A.F. pilots swooped into a German flight formation and inflicted heavy damage.

According to official dispatches there during British Hurricane pilots engaged nine German Messerschmidt 110's over the German lines and shot down three of them, all the British craft returned safely to their bases.

AERIAL RAIDS ON NAZI COAST APPEAR LIKELY

May Signal Opening Of British Blockade Of Reich

By FREDERICK KUH
British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, April 3—Reports were circulated today that Great Britain may signal the opening of a tightened blockade with an important aerial attack along the German coast.

The British government is conducting lively consultations with Norway and Sweden, in close collaboration with the French government, concerning Germany's iron ore supply from Scandinavia.

These talks were believed to include representations against alleged German abuse of Norwegian territorial waters.

Reliable informants confirmed that the government had intended to send formal notes on the iron ore situation to Norway and Sweden yesterday.

POSTPONE SENDING

It was decided, apparently at the last moment, to postpone dispatch of the notes. But it was said that the decision was really to postpone the sending, not to cancel sending them, and it was believed that preparation for some warlike demonstration caused the delay.

The version was that notes to Norway and Sweden would make a deeper impression if they were accompanied by a sudden Allied attack on Germany, possibly from the air.

Foreign experts in London said incidentally that German iron ore ships would be vulnerable to Allied airplane attack, even in the Baltic.

COPENHAGEN, April 3—Scandinavia foresaw today the beginning of a new "war of nerves" endangering their neutrality. Norway and Sweden feared the war at sea might be brought even closer to their doors.

LONDON, April 3—Two air battles were reported off the British coast today in which two German planes were shot down and one British fighter plane was believed lost.

Scene of one battle was off the Yorkshire coast, where German planes attacked a British convoy. British fighter craft attacked the circling German bombers and one British Spitfire and a huge German Heinkel bomber were reported downed in the fight.

Two Yorkshire lifeboats and a number of fishing boats put out to sea to help victims of the attack if necessary. The second air battle took place as an unspecified place off the British northeast coast. One German plane was shot down in this fight but no details were immediately available.

A bombing plane, believed to have been a German Heinkel, was also seen flying low over the Shetland Islands. British fighter planes zoomed off the ground and took chase. No aerial siren was sounded, however, and the populace was unaware of the outcome of the chase.

Move Is Designed To Lend Strength To Nazi Blockade

By SIDNEY J. WILLIAMS
British United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, April 3.—Political quarters reported today that a cabinet reorganization, probably involving some key defence posts and possibly resulting in the formation of a compact inner war cabinet, might be announced at any hour.

The opportunity for a reorganization, discussed for weeks as desirable, would be in the appointment of a successor to Sir John Gilmour, minister of shipping, who died Saturday.

Any reorganization would be in no sense a cabinet crisis such as the recent one in France but would be designed to strengthen the government on the basis of developments of the last few months, particularly in view of the prospective tightening of the blockade against Germany.

The central council of the National Union of Conservative and Unionist Associations, representing 307 of the 615 seats in the House of Commons, meets tomorrow and it was believed that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain might feel that a reorganization could be successfully announced at this time. Chamberlain was expected to address the council if he had time.

NUMBER OF TRANSFERS

The Daily Mail, often well informed on such matters, forecast that the present defence ministers were likely to figure in any reorganization and that one might leave the cabinet while the number would go to another post. There would probably be a number of transfers of ministers not included in the present five-man inner cabinet, the Daily Mail said.

Popular interest centered on Winston Churchill first lord of the admiralty, and the possibility that a real war cabinet might be formed.

It had long been expected that with the development of the war, dynamic Churchill, arch-enemy of Nazism, who as a member of Commons had for months and even years before the war, forecast accurately where Germany was heading, would be given a post of first rate importance, second only to that of the Prime Minister.

But while there has been a glut of speculation as to what might happen as part of any reorganization, there has been an almost total lack of information.

It has been predicted that there might be a five-man inner war cabinet, whose members would be Chamberlain, Churchill, Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary; Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Sir Samuel Hoare, Lord Privy Seal. One possibility has been discussed that these members might have no routine duties.

INCREASED POWER

But again it has been reported that Lord Chatfield, defence coordination minister, might be transferred or might retire and that Churchill might be given his post with such increased powers as to make him in fact the chief of the combined services and that he would be a member of any inner cabinet, presumably other ministers as well as the service chiefs or specific posts in such an event.

Leslie Burgin, supply minister, who is reported to have been criticised has been mentioned as one minister who might be affected in a reorganization. Sir Kingsley Wood, air minister, is another. William S. Morrison, whose food ministry has been criticised, and Sir Reginald Hugh Dorman-Smith, agriculture minister, also have been mentioned for possible shifts.

Earl Being Considered

OTTAWA, April 3—A persistent report today that the Earl of Athlone had been appointed Governor-General of Canada brought a statement from the office of Prime Minister Mackenzie King that the question of a successor to the late Lord Tweedsmuir was under consideration, and that as soon as arrangements were completed an official announcement would be made. Announcement may be made Thursday.

The Earl of Athlone, 66-year-old brother of Queen Mary, mother of King George VI, was Governor-General of South Africa from 1923 to 1931.

Lord Tweedsmuir, whose term as Governor-General of Canada would have expired this summer, died in Montreal early in February from the effects of a fall in his dressing room at Rideau Hall, the vice-regal residence here.

Probable Successor Said Ideal Viceroy

British United Press

OTTAWA, April 3.—Canada's vice-regal mansion was ready today to receive a new master when the successor to Canada's late governor general, Lord Tweedsmuir, is named.

When asked if it would be the Earl of Athlone, Dr. O. L. D. Skelton, Under Secretary for External Affairs, replied he was unable to comment.

The Earl of Athlone, who seemed today to be probable successor to the late Lord Tweedsmuir was governor general of South Africa from 1923 to 1931 and was seen as an ideal war time viceroy for the Dominion. He has been widely rumored as successor to several vice-regal posts.

The appointment was not discussed in the Canadian cabinet yesterday according to official reports, but Prime Minister Mackenzie King has called a special press conference today which may bear weight on the appointment.

SEVERE SLASH IN ESTIMATES WILL BE MADE

Need For Economy As Means Of Adding To The War Effort

By GRANT DEXTER
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, April 3.—The government has re-opened the estimates for 1940-41 which had been approved for submission to parliament in January—if the session had been held—and has decided to cut them down severely.

The need for economy, as a means of adding to the war effort, has caused this step to be taken. It is generally known that the reductions in expenditures achieved last January fell far below the hopes of Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of finance. The cut in relief expenditures, forecast yesterday, is but one indication of the policy of economy now to be enforced.

LINE OF ATTACK

A different line of attack on the estimates has also been adopted. Instead of reviewing the estimates in the treasury board, the most difficult departments will be passed upon by the special war finance and supply committee of the cabinet, which comprises Mr. Ralston as chairman and five ministers as members, Messrs. Ilsley, Rogers, Cardin, Howe and Gardiner. This committee has a strong secretariat including the personnel of the finance department and the Bank of Canada.

It is hoped to cut as much as $200,000,000 out of the normal expenditures of government. And if the national railways meets its capital charges, as most experts here believe it will, the net saving in comparison with the last fiscal year would be about $70,000,000. Any saving of this size would help in two directions. It would mean less in the way of new taxation and ease in the way of borrowing for war.

William Allard Sentenced To 5 Years In Prison

CALGARY, April 3.—William Allard, Patricia district farm hand, was sentenced to five years imprisonment in Prince Albert penitentiary today by Mr. Justice A. F. Ewing for the attempted murder of Mrs. Thorleif Wagemyr of Patricia.

A criminal assizes jury found Allard guilty of the charge late Tuesday afternoon after an hour's deliberation. Coupled with the guilty verdict was a recommendation for mercy.

Censorship Post

LONDON, April 3.—C. J. Radcliffe has appointed today assistant director-general of the press and censorship bureau.

CALGARY MILL RATE CUT IS RECOMMENDED

CALGARY, April 3.—A reduction in rates of the city electric light department which would have the effect of saving consumers on the combination rate $25,000 a year and would encourage other consumers to take advantage of the lowest residential electric service rate west of Winnipeg, is a feature of Calgary's 1940 budget.

Mayor Andrew Davison and City Commissioner J. A. Tweddle have completed their annual report for submission at a special meeting of the city council next Monday.

Besides recommending approval of the proposal to reduce electricity rates, the commissioners recommend a tax rate for 1940 of 46 mills.

This is a reduction of one and a half mills under last year's 47½ mill rate and a reduction of 10 mills under the peak rate of 56 mills in 1936.

Cable Address For Canadian Troops

OTTAWA, April 3.—The department of national defence announced today the cable address for messages to members of the Canadian Active Service Force overseas would be "Canrecord, London." All cables should be addressed with the regimental number, rank and name of the addressee.

30 Inches Of Snowfall Recorded In Edmonton In Three Spring Weeks

For the fourth straight day citizens awoke Wednesday to find the sky heavily overcast and snow floating to the ground with the mercury reading 28 above at 8:30 a.m. More than five inches of snow has fallen in the city since the latest snowstorm got underway a few minutes before midnight Saturday, and since March 17 there has been a record snowfall in the city of more than 30 inches.

The total is expected to mount still higher with government weather officials forecasting additional snow with little change in temperature.

Tuesday marked the first time in more than three weeks that the average daily temperature for 1940 was higher than that for the corresponding date in 1939. Tuesday the mercury hit a high of 30 above and a low of 27 above for an average mark of 29 above. Mean temperature for April 2, 1939, was 24 above.

Edmonton's snowfall Tuesday was as heavy as any point in northern Alberta. Mirror Landing and Athabasca each reported three inches of snow. Snow was also reported at Fort St. John, Dawson Creek, Blythe, Pouce Coupe, Beaverlodge, Grande Prairie, Spirit River, Fairview, Berwyn, Falher, High Prairie, Grouard and Slave Lake.

These districts reported that snow was still falling Wednesday morning, while Hudson Hope also reported that snow was falling. The only sign of Alberta's official spring came at Peace River, where a five-hour rain was reported.

CITIZENS RIDING STREET CARS AS STREETS SLUSHY

Edmonton's snowy, slushy weather is boosting street railway passenger traffic by 10,000 passengers daily, compared with this time last year, it was learned Wednesday from Supt. Thomas Ferrier.

"For the past week we have been carrying about 50,000 passengers a day and last year the traffic was about 40,000 a day," Mr. Ferrier said.

Besides boosting revenue, the slush makes extra work for the street railway maintenance crews, he said, as trolley coaches have to be thoroughly washed down every night.

The snow has caused no hitches in service and cars on all lines have been running efficiently, Mr. Ferrier reported.

CANUCKS WILL MOUNT GUARD OVER PALACE

LONDON, April 3.—Canadian troops will mount guard at Buckingham palace from April 17 to 24 inclusive, it was announced tonight.

The Royal 22nd Regiment of Quebec will furnish the guard for the first four days and the Toronto Scottish for the second period.

It is understood that Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, general officer commanding the Canadian active service force, discussed the arrangements with the War Office and palace authorities while he was in London in February.

The suggestion that the French-Canadian Royal 22nd Regiment should participate in the Buckingham Palace guard is said to have emanated from a high official of the Dominions office.

The duty of mounting guard on Buckingham Palace is a prestige hitherto reserved exclusively for the Brigade of Guards, though in a few instances the rule has been relaxed, such as during the coronation, when Dominion troops took a turn.

GROUARD NOW ONLY RIDING NOT REPORTED

One constituency remains to be heard from to complete returns in the provincial election held on March 21. This is Grouard, where the second count is now proceeding, with J. A. Maurice, Social Credit candidate, leading by five votes, with second count of three small polls yet to come.

Standing of parties in the house is:

ELECTED

Social Credit	36
Independents	19
Labor	1
LEADING
Social Credit	1
Total	57

The Grouard result is expected at any time and will wind up the election two weeks after polling day.

Allies Account For Five German Planes

PARIS, April 3. — Allied air scouts on patrol duty above the western front were reported by military sources today to have shot down at least five and possibly six German fighting planes yesterday.

The French officially declared their planes had shot down two Nazi planes and perhaps a third, while unofficial reports credited the Royal Air Force with destroying three Messerschmidts out of a squadron of nine.

One French plane was forced to land in Luxembourg, the French command said.

Artillery exchanges were noted west of the Vosges mountains in the Nied and Bitche sectors.

French air scouts reported there have been unusual German troop movements which might indicate an offensive is in the making.

Soldiers Overseas Not To Vote In Manitoba Elections

WINNIPEG, April 3.—An amendment to the Manitoba election act allowing members of the Canadian Active Service Force in the province to vote in provincial elections was given second reading in the legislature Tuesday.

The amendment provides for army, navy and air force men quartered in the province but not in their own electoral district to vote for candidates in their home constituency. No provision for polling the vote of Manitobans serving overseas was made.

Plotters Face Trial

NEW YORK, April 3.—Seventeen men accused of plotting to overthrow the United States government, assassinate a dozen congressmen and set up a new ruling dictatorship went on trial in Brooklyn federal court today on charges of seditious conspiracy.

'Searchers Give Up Hopes Of Finding Alder Flats Man

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

WINFIELD, Alta., April 3—After combing the woods for weeks, searchers have given up hopes of finding E. Veikjar, Alder Flats man, who left his home to hunt squirrels and apparently became lost in the forest. He was never seen again, although day after day the searchers renewed their attempt to find the lost man.

The continued snowfall greatly handicapped the search parties and there is as much snow in the woods now as there was at any time during the winter. Friends believe there is little hope of Veikjar being alive after so long a time in the woods.

PARIS, April 3.—A French military tribunal tonight imposed maximum sentences of five years' imprisonment and loss of civil rights to 36 Communist former members of the Chamber of Deputies, accused of carrying out the orders of the Communist International.

Goering Boasts Of Nazi Victory When Adolf Hitler Wills

British United Press Correspondent, Webb Miller, Analyzes Speech Of Nazi No. 2

PARIS, April 3.—A French government spokesman commenting on Field Marshal Goering's declaration that "the decisive blow must be struck" in the west, said today, "we are ready for just such a possibility."

By FREDERICK OECHSNER
British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin

BERLIN, April 3. — Field Marshal Hermann Goering, Nazi No. 2, proclaimed today that Germany's armored forces —standing as "a closed iron block" against Britain and France in the west—will win the war and the German people will become "once again" the greatest people on earth.

As Germany struck in Poland, Goering said, so will it strike against the Allies when the time comes "to show that Germany is determined to put an end to the war."

Addressing German youth as Britain announced it was attempting to strangle the Nazi Reich by closing its supply arteries, Goering said:

"We are not weakened as the result of the Polish campaign but we are stronger.

MOBILIZED ALL POWERS

"With their back and their flanks free, the great German armed forces can load and water and can then stand as a closed iron block against Britain and France in the west. Here, said Goering, the decisive blow must fall. For this decision the Fuehrer has mobilized all powers.

"As we won one victory so will we, when the time comes, with that German determination put an end to the war."

Continuing, Goering declared:

"The German people were once the greatest people on earth and they will be the greatest once again.

ETERNAL GUILT

"When the Fuehrer united the German people into a community his enemies, whose hate and envy knew no bounds, broke their longprepared war against us. When all other treachery failed they brought the horror of war to mankind for the second time. That is their eternal guilt. They will be charged with it in future and, because they committed this horror, they will be given the answer. Fate will give to them war through us. Now they will learn what it means to attack Germany."

Goering then went on to say: "In a lightning campaign of 18 days the Fuehrer and the German armed forces smashed part of our enemies. From the second day the German air force, controlled the air over Poland. The Polish general staff was unable to establish communications with any part of the army. So did Germany's Army. And as we struck the blow there so shall we strike the blow—it is my sacred conviction—against the West when the time comes to show Germany is determined to put an end to the war."

British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, April 3. — In analyzing the speech of Field Marshal Goering today British United Press correspondent Webb Miller writes: Germany has slammed and bolted her back and side doors and believes that the Allies must fight her on the western front, where she is strongest.

This is my interpretation of the speech of Field Marshal Goering, No. 2 Nazi. It is contrary to the British press interpretation, which has head lines such as "We Shall Strike in the West" and "We Must Strike in the West," attributed to Goering.

A close reading of the text of Goering's speech failed to bear out the idea that Goering had announced Germany's intention of launching an attack on the western front.

Rather Goering seemed to be boasting that Germany had circumvented the allied hopes of finding a battleground other than the western front, where Germany is most powerfully prepared.

SOLVE PROBLEM

If Goering did mean that Germany intended to hurl an offensive against the western front it would solve the allied command's biggest problem—how to get the land war started on a battleground favorable to the allies.

Military authorities never made a secret of the fact that they ardently hoped that Hitler will attack on the western front where there exists the strongest fortifications in military history.

For six months the British and French armies have strengthened and improved their defensive fortifications until they are as nearly impregnable as the labor of man and military skill can make them.

In my opinion, Hitler's six months of warfare has indicated that the final decision is most likely to be through the air with ground war material, so far as the conflict has developed and seems to be developing.

ADVANTAGEOUS TO ALLIES

And a great offensive on the western front would consume material faster than any other means.

In my opinion, then that a German offensive on the western front would be clearly advantageous to the allies.

Carried to St. Hedwig's church by boat Monday, Miss Wladeska and Jesale Kasak were married while flood waters rose steadily outside. Then they left by boat for a wedding reception at the bride's home.

Elevators Full As Heavy Grain Shipments Arrive

Heavy shipments, mainly from Alberta, during the past season, have "plugged" terminal elevators in Edmonton and at the Pacific coast, it was reported Wednesday. At the present time, the district now has the plant was practically jammed to capacity, having 2,248,900 bushels of wheat in store.

Orders have been received to transfer 115,000 bushels or 107 carloads to Port Arthur and Saskatoon plants, to relieve the congestion here, M. MacRitchie, superintendent, said Wednesday.

The Pacific coast showed that plants are not in a position to handle much more Alberta grain. Vancouver elevators, with a capacity of 17,180,000 bushels, had 15,096,000 bushels in store. Victoria elevators, with a capacity of 800,000 bushels, had 600,000 in store Tuesday.

Questions On Rumania Are Not Answered

LONDON, April 3—The British government refrained from answering questions on Rumania and the position in the Balkans as the house of commons discussed the war situation today.

Richard Butler, under-secretary for foreign affairs, told the House of Commons Foreign Secretary Halifax considered no statement could usefully be made at present on the position in the Balkans.

Rumania and its relation to the Balkan situation generally.

Mr. Butler said the Finnish government had made no official approach to Britain regarding reconstruction after the war, but added that at the end of the way Finnish orders in Britain for arms and munitions amounted to £5,500,000 ($34,475,000).

Four Youths Held

OTTAWA, April 3.—Following a running gun battle through the city streets, four Ottawa youths were held today by police on charges of armed robbery and theft of an automobile.

BRITISH FAR EAST POLICY NOT CHANGED

Will Continue To Recognize Government Of Chiang Kai-Shek

LONDON, April 3—British far eastern policy has undergone no change and the British government will continue to recognize the Chunking government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek as the legitimate government of China, the House of Commons was informed today.

R. A. Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, said of British policy in the Far East:

"It always has been our endeavor to conduct our policy in the Far East in accordance with the principles underlying the nine-power treaty and so keep with the French and American governments."

(Under Japanese direction, a new "central government of China" under former premier Wang Ching-Wei was established at Nanking last Saturday in opposition to Chiang Kai-Shek. Immediately Secretary of State Cordell Hull of the United States announced that the United States would continue to recognize the Chungking government.)

Mr. Butler said that Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax was "quite ready" to make a statement for the speech delivered by the British ambassador to Japan, Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, minister of Japan's British Society in Tokyo last Thursday.

Sir Robert, said Butler, had no intention of suggesting that British policy had undergone a change. He said that there was no question of Britain changing her policy in the east or of a British desire to see settlement of the Chinese-Japanese conflict on equitable terms.

EARLY BREAK PEACE RIVER ICE LIKELY

Farming Land Getting Good Early Soaking—Sloughs Full

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

PEACE RIVER, April 3.—Indications of an early break-up of the Peace is evident by the flow of water on top of the ice. Small streams are pouring water, while low spots are filling and full up.

Although very little snow is left, light rains and intermittent flurries of snow are increasing the supply of water. To a great extent that the ground is getting an early soaking, in place of the usual run off. The frost is thawing out the fields and the boggy condition assures a subsoil soaking that has been lacking for the past few years.

Main roads are barely passable under trying conditions, while side roads are out of the question except by team. Ditches filled with ice in March, causing the water to flow across and has thawed out, and only those forced to move are attempting to travel.

FARMER DIES

John Rizzu, well known East Peace River farmer died suddenly of a heart attack. He was 57 years of age. His wife and 12 children survive. The deceased has been 12 years ago, coming from Lestock, Saskatchewan.

The official count for the provincial election did not take place on April 1 as several of the ballot boxes had not shown up at date of the returning officer, due to a misunderstanding by some of the deputy returning officers. All are expected not later than Friday.

Province Asked For Compulsory Grading Of Beef

CALGARY, April 3.—The provincial government will be asked to set up a system of compulsory beef grading and inspection similar to that now in operation in British Columbia. The proposal was made at the annual convention of the Alberta Cattle Breeders' Association, Tuesday evening.

ALBERTA CHICK ENTRIES CHIRP BEST AT FAIR

Success of Alberta-hatched chicks at the Manitoba winter fair on Wednesday brought forth warm praise from C. W. Traves, provincial poultry commissioner. It was announced that Provincial Hatcheries, Edmonton, won firsts in the White Leghorn and Rhode Island Red classes and thirds in New Hampshires and Barred Rocks.

"Purchasers of Alberta-hatched chicks may be assured of receiving best quality stock again this year," said Mr. Traves. "Our policy of culling and blood-testing flocks is proving to be second to none in the Dominion."

He said that special mention must be made of C. A. Robinson, Edmonton, who entered four lots of chicks in the Manitoba fair, which has been designated the leading poultry show of the winter season. Total entry of 1,650 birds in 16 classes was recorded.

MAN SENTENCED TO PRISON FOR GRAIN STEALING

"Thefts of grain from field granaries are far too common and must be stopped," stated Mr. Justice T. M. Tweedie in supreme court Wednesday as he sentenced Rudi Bluetchin, Stony Plain, to serve six months in Fort Saskatchewan jail on a charge of stealing 60 bushels of wheat, the property of Herman Gitzel, Golden Spike district farmer.

Evidence adduced by Crown Prosecutor J. W. McClung, K.C., was that the accused with Percy Smith, Stony Plain, broke open the Gitzel granary on April 19, 1938, and stole 60 bushels of wheat which was sold to an elevator company at St. Albert for $59.40.

The grain ticket was cashed by the accused and his truck was utilized in the robbery. He travelled with Smith to Edmonton on the day the grain was sold, meeting him subsequent to the sale to divide the receipts. Smith, who gave evidence against the accused, is at present serving 18 months on a similar charge.

Following the disposal of the charge, Blutchin was arraigned on a charge of breaking and entering the Alberta Grain Co. elevator at Stony Plain and stealing therefrom 12 cash grain cheques. Eight of these cheques to the value of $396 were cashed in the city. The hearing is proceeding.

Conviction Now Quashed On Wage Case Heard Here

Appeal by Man Sing, city restaurant proprietor, was successful in district court Wednesday, His Honor Judge J. L. Crawford ordering a conviction by Magistrate M. M. Downey to be quashed.

Magistrate Downey found Sing guilty of an infraction of the Alberta Minimum Wage Act and fined him $25 and ordered that he pay $6.50 costs and $60.09 back wages to Elsie Gulka.

G. B. O'Connor, K.C., for Sing, admitted that his client had entered into an agreement with Miss Gulka under, which she had agreed to accept $30 in full payment of a $130 claim for overtime worked.

Evidence before the court was that Sing paid the minimum wage for regular work, but had failed to pay for overtime. The agreement had been made between the parties with the sanction of department officials.

He contended there was nothing in the Minimum Wage Act to prevent an employee from settling any claim and that Miss Gulka's remedy rested in a civil action.

PRO-GERMAN URGES U.S. TO FIGHT ALLIES

Friend Of Kaiser Wants U.S. Naval Ships To Battle Blockade

NEW YORK, April 3.—Poultney Bigelow, long-time friend and biographer of former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, returned from a two-month visit in Europe last night with the proposal that United States ships be used to stop by force mail seizures and contraband searches.

The Italian liner Vulcania, which brought him and 418 others to New York, had been stopped at Patras, Greece, and at Gibraltar. Indignant over this, the 84-year-old writer, resident of Malden-on-Hudson, shook his white head and said his "message to America" was this:

"'Unto thyself be true.' Anybody who tries to interfere with American ships on the high seas, shoot him on the spot—and let me pick the spot."

"What we need is stop this searching of our mails and seizing our goods," he added, "is a war like that of 1812. American ships ought to be stationed at Gibraltar to stop it."

Bigelow criticized President Roosevelt, Great Britain and France and spoke in glowing terms of Germany, once more repeating his prediction that the Nazis would win the war.

Speaking of the situation in Germany, he said Germans were "resigned" to the war—"no politics like there is in England and France. If you find a man, woman or child who isn't behind Hitler, I'll give you a nickel."

POLITICS ARE FORGOTTEN AT SPECIAL FETE

Special returning office in Edmonton for the Active Service vote in the three western provinces was free of political feeling or tenseness, as demonstrated Monday evening when the six scrutineers, representing four political parties, joined to present a complimentary dinner to Capt. C. W. McCool, M.C., K.C., of Scotland, the special returning officer.

The dinner was held at the Royal George hotel and Lieut. Col. J. Regins, assistant returning officer, and the staff of the office which has been operating for a month to plan and receive the soldier vote were present.

Scrutineer-hosts were Lt.-Col. H. St. John Montizambert, Liberal, of Vancouver; John Sydie, Conservative; J. W. H. Williams, C.C.F., and W. J. White, New Democracy, of Edmonton; H. E. Keown, K.C., of Melfort, Sask., and James Hallowell, Saline Hat.

Capt. McCool stated that only the efficiency of the scrutineers and the clerical staff of Major Tuttle, and the co-operation of the officers of the navy, army and air forces in securing Canada made it possible to handle the military vote expeditiously.

BLIZZARD RAGES ACROSS SOUTH PRAIRIE ZONE

WINNIPEG, April 3.—An "old-time" blizzard raged across the southern part of the prairie provinces today, blocking traffic and communications but leaving behind welcome moisture for wheat fields after a winter of little precipitation.

The wet, heavy snow, which began in some sections last Sunday, was still falling at noon today and weather forecasts for Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta predicted flurries would continue. Temperatures remained just below freezing with most points registering in the high 20s.

The storm centre appeared to be in southeastern Saskatchewan. More than 12 inches of snow lay on the ground at Gravelbourg. Drifts were piled to five feet in the Estevan and Weyburn districts further east.

Edmonton and Calgary reported between four and five inches of snow on Wednesday, Hi Hood and Medicine Hat also experienced heavy snow.

Saskatoon and Prince Albert in northern Saskatchewan reported "only weather but very little snow."

Residents of Winnipeg and Brandon in Manitoba both woke up to find almost five inches of snow on the ground.

Restrictions Hit Dominion's Trade With Australians

By R. K. CARNEGIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, April 3.—From the salmon canneries of British Columbia to the sardine and kippered herring plants of New Brunswick, new Australian import restrictions affect Canada and Sydney dispatches estimate that they will reduce Canadian sales in that dominion by more than $3,000,000 annually.

The restrictions are designed to improve sterling exchange available for war purchases and one Canadian trade official said last night these and other similar wartime measures are hitting Canada's trade on many sides.

Last year Canada sold Australia $32,000,000 worth of goods and bought only $11,000,000 from that country. This heavy balance of trade against Australia has frequently been the cause of protest from Australian statesmen who urged Canada to buy more from the sister dominion.

INCREASE IS SLOW

Canada's Australian imports have been gaining somewhat but the growth has been slow and yesterday the Australian restrictions to protect the sterling reserves in London went into effect, slicing Canadian trade with Australia.

The sterling area included the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India and the colonies. It is one unit for exchange purposes and the drain on the reserves is the same whether the buyers are in Australia or the United Kingdom.

Canada sells this area much more than the Dominion buys from it and accordingly there is no problem of converting to sterling to buy Canadian dollars. The new restrictions result from a general tightening up so that more sterling will be available for wartime purchases.

FINANCING IMPOSSIBLE

From Sydney comes a suggestion that Canada might obtain credits in Australia and thus ease the strain on the sterling area. However, the feeling here appears to be that Canadian banks are filled with war financing without adding trade financing.

Meanwhile information here is that Forgan Smith, premier of the Australian state of Queensland, will come to Canada to look into opportunities for greater sale of tinned pineapple and sugar.

The new Australian restrictions range from total prohibition of imports to a reduction of 25 per cent. The list of commodities affected was called to the Canadian trade and commerce department by its Australian office and, on receiving this cable, the department rushed out scores of telegrams advising export. ers so that shipments could be stopped:

FARM LANDS NEAR REGINA GET MOISTURE

Blizzard Brings Snow To South Saskatchewan On Tuesday

REGINA, April 3. — Southern Saskatchewan farm lands, short of moisture in a lean winter's snowfall, were covered with drifts that reached as high as five to six feet, cut off rural travel and brought highway traffic to a standstill at some points last night.

Snow that began to fall in some districts Sunday and later turned into a bad blizzard appeared to be general over most of the southern portion of the province. It did not extend as far north as Melville, 100 miles northeast of Regina, however.

Motorists were stuck on No. 1 highway at Whitewood, east of Regina, while in the southeast section drifts were piled four and five feet deep at Arcola. Side roads around Arcola were choked off.

The storm howled over Weyburn and Estevan and Assiniboia, farther west, reported it was in the grip of a regular "old-time" blizzard. Roads were impassable and no cars have moved in the district in the past three days. Drifts had piled up four feet deep in places.

Ten inches of snow lay on the level at Gravelbourg and travelers were forced to abandon their cars in town.

From Shaunavon, in the extreme southwest, it reported 10 inches of snow had fallen since Tuesday morning. At Swift Current streets were choked by drifts and five to six inches of snow were reported on the level.

Snow was falling heavily and steadily in Regina last last night with little sign of let-up.

Snowfall Soaks Southern Lands

LETHBRIDGE, April 3.—South Alberta crop and range lands were soaked yesterday after receiving more than half an inch of precipitation since Sunday evening. This came as wet snow and quickly soaked into the soil. More snow was falling last night.

Canada Plans to Meet Skilled-Labor Problem If Shortage Develops

OTTAWA, April 3—Labor department officials have envisioned the possibility of a shortage in the ranks of skilled workmen if expected wartime industrial expansion develops, and consideration is being given to proposals to meet this problem.

While there has been no official announcement, it is understood that study is being given measures by which once skilled laborers, their dexterity now dulled by enforced idleness, may be given refresher courses in industry.

The Dominion election campaign brought a marked delay to development of new projects by the government but now, with a session of parliament approaching, the whole subject of relief, unemployment and training will be a live issue.

Any great increase in the tempo of production in war industries would bring a shortage of skilled workmen by next August, a labor expert forecast yesterday.

A large number of those listed with employment services as skilled laborers have difficulty in qualifying for a job, it was stated.

An arrangement with the provinces whereby such men could be apprenticed to industry by aid of a subsidy which would continue until the workers regained their skill, is one of the methods suggested to recruit the ranks of artisans.

For a number of years the government has carried on relief training schemes in co-operation with the provinces as a means of providing young people with occupational experience at a time when they could not get it in the normal manner.

Military Needs Causing Intellectual Blackout in European Countries

NEW YORK, April 3.—Military necessities are creating an "intellectual blackout" in Europe which threatens incalculable harm to future generations, Raymond B. Fosdick, president of the Rockefeller Foundation, said yesterday.

In his annual report to the Foundation's activities, Fosdick said the war already has forced modifications of the organization of the Foundation's activities.

The report said the University of Warsaw has ceased to exist, that the entire Polish faculty of the University of Cracow was reported to be in a concentration camp and that Polish members of the faculty of the University of Vilna have been dismissed. It added:

"Scarcely a year ago, the Moors, entrenched in the ancient University of Madrid, used the books from the university library as defences in the fire fights. The University of Prague has been shut by the German government. The University of Strasbourg has been moved from its site and planted in Clermont-Ferrand.

"For reasons of economy and because their students are in military service, more than half the universities of Germany are closed. The institutions comprising the University of London have been uprooted and scattered over a wide area in southern England. The 20,000 student population of the University of Paris has shrunk to 5,000.

"Perhaps the most frightening aspect of modern war is the intellectual blackout which it creates. One does not have to subscribe to H. G. Wells' grim prophecy that 'mankind, which began in a cage and behind a windbreak, will end in the disease-soaked ruins of a slum'."

FEDERATION OF DANUBIAN STATES SEEN

Austrian Archdukes Tell Of Future Hopes For Danube Union

TORONTO, April 3.—Two Austrian archdukes, one the pretender to the throne, dropped noble dignity and turned mechanics last night as photographers snapped them changing a tire on an automobile.

While the 27-year-old pretender, Otto von Hapsburg, clutched a spare tire beside the car, his brother, Archduke Robert, donned a wheel-remover tool while photographers flash bulbs popped. Then the brothers, Count Egon Berenyi, Count Francis Trautmansdorff, drove off in a limousine with a uniformed chauffeur.

The tire changing was an act, played at the photographers' request.

NEW FORMULA NEEDED

Previously, before a crackling fire in Hart House, social centre of the University of Toronto, the brothers told interviewers of hopes of a Danubian federation of states that would be so strong as to resist aggression by any power.

"After this war we must have a definite settlement," said the handsome Archduke Otto. "We come to a new formula, the peoples generally should be able to resist any Russian or German aggression.

He denied that his ambition was to head such a federation and said that his first thoughts were for the conclusion of such Danubian union.

"The first thing to do is to get back the freedom of the people," he said. "Then side-tracking may be considered secondary."

He hoped some day to become ruler of Austria and that post possibility of revolution in Austria against Nazi rule strengthened each day. Ninety-five per cent of the Austrian people were anti-Hitler.

PRICE ON HIS HEAD

"Before Germany took over Austria there was a strong trend to-wards restoration of the monarchy. I believe that trend to be still there."

He said Germany had set a price upon his head and that of his brother and that he was wanted in Austria on "hundreds of criminal charges, including high treason."

Otto said he was travelling on a Belgian passport and probably would return to Paris within a fortnight, probably by air. He and Felix, four years his junior, arrived yesterday by automobile from Detroit for a three-day visit.

"The purpose of my visit is to study the political, economical and cultural situation in the United States and Canada," the pretender replied to questions.

Bit of French Canada Is Tucked Away Amid Rolling Hampshire Hills

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ALDERSHOT, Eng., April 3—A rough board sign on which "Montreal" and an arrow pointing to a trench-scarred ridge are emblazoned, has brought many curious soldiers and civilians to view a little spot of "French-Canada" amid the rolling Hampshire hills.

The sign, which stands by a broad roadside, traversed daily by thousands of Canadian and Imperial troops on the March, was erected by members of the 4th Field Company, Royal Canadian Engineers, a Montreal unit, commanded by Maj. H. F. Seymour. It leads the way to a maze of solidly-constructed, entrenchments, dugouts, redoubts, latticening posts, gun-emplacements and tank traps fashioned by the men as part of their training program.

Under the watchful eye of every-present "Sapper Henry," the company's built-terrier mascot, these Montreal engineers have dedicated their work to familiar haunts at home, just as their fathers did in France and Flanders in sectors they defended during the first Great War.

An animated conversation, mainly in French, was in progress at a cleverly concealed Bren-gun emplacement. One of the few members of the unit from Toronto had attempted to stake his claim with a sign reading "Church Street," but the majority overruled him and up went "Cote-des-Neiges."

Canada Must Co-operate To Help Britain

Purchase Of Goods From British Manufacturers Said Necessary

VANCOUVER, April 3—For the first time in history Canada's essential market for primary goods is threatened by war, H. R. MacMillan, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said here last night, and to meet this threat Canadians must help Great Britain to maintain her purchasing power.

The United Kingdom was the only important market in the world requiring Canadian goods in volume, he said in an address to the Vancouver Board of Trade. "And she will continue to buy if we co-operate in making it possible for her to pay.

"We can co-operate by buying British goods, by collectively and individually planning our economy to synchronize with Britain's. We are in that economy now and we must stand by it or be swept with the tempestuous tide that sets against it.

"This is not a neighbors' war in which some of us engage for moral or adventurous causes," Mr. MacMillan went on. "It is a war for our lives in which none corner or later, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, all Canadians must engage."

The Vancouver industrialist said the "plain duty" of Canadians was to throw their whole weight behind the Allies in favor of achieving a victory as soon as possible. At the same time he advised against wishful thinking, adding:

"Don't assume that Britain does not need our men. If Britain has to bear the whole military load she will have to pay all of her men in uniform and the vital export industries on which she depends for her economic strength must suffer."

ALLARD GUILTY IN ATTEMPTED MURDER COUNT

Mercy Is Recommended By Jury In Case Tried At Calgary

CALGARY, April 3. — William Allard, half-breed farm laborer of Patricia, was found guilty of attempting to murder Mrs. Thorleif Wigemyr, of Patricia, on a criminal court here yesterday. The jury recommended mercy, after deliberating one hour.

Allard was remanded in custody for sentence until Wednesday morning by Mr. Justice A. F. Ewing, who told that accused, 24, of Vergin of Brooks, defence counsel, would like some time to think out the best course of action.

"Your recommendation will receive my most careful attention," the Lordship told the jury. Reports in the day a psychiatrist said the accused had a mentality of a 10-year-old child.

Allard is alleged to have terrorized the farm home of Thorleif Wigemyr for three hours with rifle fire, in the middle of the night, October 18, 1939. Shooting through a bedroom window, he wounded Mrs. Wigemyr in the arm.

In his own defence, Allard had stated he drank three ounces of rubbing compound, three bottles of beer and an undetermined quantity of a mixture of both, in Patricia's beer parlor, to relieve pains caused by ill health. Two days later he returned to his home, and gave himself up to police.

Dr. R. R. Maclean, superintendent of Ponoka mental hospital, who examined Allard for four months, was called to the stand.

He described Allard as a "high grade moron," with mentality of a child from seven to 10 years of age. With such people, he said, even small amounts of alcohol might produce unusually severe effects.

HULL REFUSES HOLD BULLITT FOR QUESTIONS

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Cordell Hull, United States Secretary of State, last night turned down a request of Senator Jerry Hamilton Fish, New York republican, that William C. Bullitt, ambassador to France, be permitted to return to the United States for two weeks to answer questions of a congressional committee concerning remarks attributed to him in a German "White Paper."

The "White Paper," allegedly sent from Polish files in Warsaw, reported Bullitt as saying that the United States would join Great Britain and France in fighting Germany.

"I may say in the first place," Hull wrote Fish, "that ambassador Bullitt has succinctly and categorically denied any imputations relating to his alleged statement in that published matter. The executive department of the government has accepted this denial without question. Furthermore, ambassador Bullitt has been delayed by the illness of his daughter in returning to his post where he is needed."

OVER-HEATED STOVE BLAMED IN FATAL FIRE

PORT ARTHUR, April 3—Inspectors last night blamed an overheated kitchen stove for the fire that took six lives in a lonely dwelling on the outskirts of Port Arthur early Tuesday morning.

Six of the seven residents of the house, suffocated and partly burned, were discovered by firemen in a heap just outside the front door way. With the 54-year-old grandfather of the family, Oscar Blom, in the lead, the group had been unable to find the door and safety when overcome by smoke.

The other victims were Mrs. Ali Blom, 29, daughter of Blom and her four children, Elsie 6, Raymond 4, Harold 3, and Allen 11 months.

The father, Joseph Metsa, had finished his night shift in a Port William bakery and was on his way home at the time the blaze occurred.

Firemen said they heard a child's cries while they were attacking the front door, but the four children were dead when entry was gained. They said the bodies had to be reached back before the door could be opened.

Justice H. H. Davis Again Named Head Victorian Nurses

OTTAWA, April 3.—Mr. Justice H. H. Davis of the supreme court of Canada last night was re-elected president of the executive council of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada at the 42nd annual meeting of the board of governors.

W. H. Malkin of Vancouver, T. Fred Mackinnon of Halifax, W. F. Angus, Major-General E. C. Ashton, F. E. Brunton, Mrs. William Dennis and Dr. Darcy McGee, all of Ottawa, were elected vice-presidents.

Neurological Unit Staff Is Complete

MONTREAL, April 3—Staff of the first wartime neurological hospital unit has been completed, it was announced last night. The staff includes 15 officers recruited from the Montreal Neurological Institute and from Toronto. 14 Montreal graduate nurses, and technicians mostly recruited in Ottawa. Officer commanding the unit is Lieut.-Col. C. E. Cross.

Illness Forces Veteran Members To Resign Seats

LONDON, April 3.—Two veteran members of the House of Commons resigned yesterday because of ill-health. Lord Snell, 80, labor, and the other a Labor member.

The Conservative, Sir Nicholas Grattan-Doyle, 77. He has been a member for Newcastle-on-Tyne since 1918.

The Labor member, Captain William Stephen Sanders who represented Battersea South from 1929 to 1931 and since 1935, is 69. He was parliamentary secretary to the war office in the second Labor government and was formerly a member of the staff of the International Labor office at Geneva.

CZECH COUNCIL SAID OPPOSED TO HAPSBURGS

TORONTO, April 3.—Coincident with the arrival in Toronto last night of Archduke Otto von Hapsburg in order to the old Hapsburg throne of Austro-Hungary, the Czech community in Toronto formed a branch of the Czech-Slovak National Council of America which said in effect that the Czech-Slovaks want no part of the Hapsburgs.

The statement, with a list of signatures including that of Dr. Vaclav Wanl, the Czech consul in Toronto, said: "Federation under Hapsburg hegemony would not solve the problems of central Europe. The Hapsburgs were always a negative force."

The message also declared that 20 years of independence and republican government "have demonstrated to the Czechs conclusively, especially the Czechoslovaks, that they can live much more happily in a democracy with the right to growth unhampered and would not willingly join any such creation as was the Hapsburg Empire."

SPECIAL TAXES BEING PLANNED FOR BACHELORS

British United Press

SYDNEY, N.S.W., April 3.—Bachelors will be called on to make special contribution to war taxation in the form of higher and new taxation plans to be submitted to the Commonwealth Government is adopted.

It is suggested that the statutory exemption from Federal taxation should be reduced from the present £300 to £100 for unmarried persons. This would affect 500,000 unmarried men and 90,000 unmarried women working in offices, shops and factories.

Scattering of Close Fights Only Feature After C.A.S.F. Vote

OTTAWA, April 3.—Ballot boxes were formally opened yesterday by returning officers, the Active Service vote was added to civilian totals and the clean-up of Canada's wartime general election entered its final stages with a scattering of close contests providing the only features.

The overwhelming election-night sweep of Prime Minister Mackenzie King's Liberal following has been undisturbed by developments and not in the least by the votes of 58,945 soldiers, sailors and airmen in England and Canada.

While the active service vote made a few close contests closer and favored a majority of national government candidates, the record Liberal representation in the 18th house of commons was unaffected.

About 90,000 in the army, navy and air force were eligible to vote and the comparatively light ballot was apparently the result of many men being stationed in their home constituencies where they voted as civilians.

STANDING COMPARISON

With one seat doubtful, the present party standing compared with the standing at dissolution in January follows, figures being only for major groups:

	At Dissolution	Today solution
Liberal	177	169
*Nat. Government	39	38
C. C. F.	8	7
New Democracy	9	15
Conservative
Social Credit.

The doubtful seat is Acadia in Alberta, where A. M. Day, Liberal, and Victor Quelch, New Democracy, are running neck-and-neck with two polls still to hear from. Day led by five votes.

Jules Castonguay, chief electoral officer, who announced details of the active service voting this morning, said about 80 per cent, of civilian ballot boxes were formally opened across the country today by returning officers who started preparing official results for forwarding to Ottawa.

Official figures may decide the number of recounts requested by defeated candidates.

CLOSE CONTESTS

The close contests, with complete unofficial counting finished, follow:

Cape Breton South—Clair Gillis, C.C.F., 11,952; D. J. Hartigan, Liberal, 11,463; Clyde Nunn, National Government, 9,822.

B. C. NOMINEES WILL RECEIVE $200 DEPOSITS

OTTAWA, April 3. — Three New Westminster, B.C., candidates in the dominion election who lost their $200 deposits—the first to be withheld—got them back all right.

"It's the first time it ever happened in my 20 years of dealing with elections, but there is no question the $200 will be returned," said Jules Castonguay, chief electoral officer. "They'll get it as soon as it will be arranged."

The candidates—T. Reid, Liberal MacKenzie, who was re-elected; T. R. Selkirk, Conservative who ran as National Government nominee, and Lionel Salt, C.C.F. nominee, polled sufficient votes to ensure return of their deposits but the cheques they put up temporarily on deposit were destroyed in a railway wreck near Medicine Hat, Alta., March 15.

The Tax Rate

Trusting that the utilities may earn a few thousand dollars more than the commissioners expect, or that some other items of revenue may exceed the estimates, the city council has set the tax rate for 1940 at 51½ mills. Should these hopes fail, there will be a shortage of $26,000 in the city's income. A 52 mill rate, as levied last year, would have balanced the budget.

Cutting the half-mill off the rate will not make much difference in the amount of the average tax bill. But what difference there is will be in the right direction. And the more welcome that the cut marks a continuance of the effort to bring the rate downward. Last year the rate was 52 mills, the year before it was 54 mills, and the year before that it was 55 mills.

The aggregate reduction of 3½ mills over the three year period is a substantial, if not rapid, rate of progress. While the financial result of the present cut may not be important to any but large taxpayers, the psychological effect of knowing that the good work is being kept on will be to encourage property holders, and encourage others to become property-holders.

The Soldier Votes

The votes of the soldiers oversea and at concentration points in Canada apparently made no difference in the standing of the parties in the new House of Commons. Hasty calculations on Tuesday did not show that a single upset had occurred because of the soldier votes. If recounting shows this to be wrong, the outcome cannot be affected in any serious way. By and large, the soldiers voted much as did the civilians, though giving a somewhat larger percentage to National Government candidates.

In this election the soldier voter had the same choice of candidates he would have had if he had been at home. His vote was counted in the riding where he resided before enlistment. There was no electioneering in the camps. The ballots did not indicate to what parties the candidates belonged. It was left to political organizations to make known which were their respective nominees, and to do so outside the camp boundaries. As nearly as circumstances permitted, the soldier voter was thus put on the same footing as the civilian voter, with no pressure of any sort permitted as to how he should vote.

The soldiers oversea, being far away, were less closely in touch with the development of the campaign, and this may to some extent have influenced their choices.

Voters and Members

Unofficial and incomplete returns show that in the recent federal elections Liberal candidates in Alberta received 100,000 votes, against 50,000 in 1935; that New Democracy candidates received 91,000 votes, against 119,000 for Social Credit candidates in 1935; that C.C.F. candidates received 32,000, against 28,000 in 1935; and that Conservative candidates received 29,000, against 40,000 in 1935.

In the provincial contest, returns also unofficial and incomplete, Social Credit votes numbered 121,000, against 163,000 in 1935; Independent votes 124,000, against combined Liberal-Conservative votes of 90,000 in 1935; the C.C.F vote corresponding fairly closely with the U.F.A. vote in 1935.

In both elections the results in members elected indicated the shift of public opinion. The Social Crediters polled fewer votes in both contests, and elected fewer members to the legislature and to parliament. But there the comparison breaks down.

In the Dominion contest the Liberals polled 9,000 more votes than their nearest competitors the Social Crediters (New Democracy), but had elected only 7 members to 9 when the tabulation was made, with one seat still in doubt. In the provincial contest the disproportion was far greater, since with 121,000 votes the Social Crediters had elected 35 members of the legislature, while the Independents, with 124,000 votes had elected only 19 candidates.

It would seem to be up to some one to explain the claim that the provincial electoral system gives a more accurately proportioned representation than does the system employed in Dominion elections.

The Doctor Has No Luck

Dr. Clodius, who functions as Hitler's director of the economics of other countries, has been spending a fortnight telling the Rumanians how they should run their affairs, with no success according to despatches from Bucharest. What the Doctor particularly wants is that Rumania demobilize 500,000 soldiers and send them back to work the land. If Rumania would do that, he would send along 6,000 German experts to tell the Rumanian farmers how to farm. Not, of course, just out of goodness of heart, but with a view to boosting Rumanian wheat and other farm production and this creating ample supplies on which Germany could draw.

Incidentally, withdrawing a third of the Rumanian soldiers from the borders would make it easier to send a Nazi army into the country at any time to see that things in Rumania were being run in accord with Berlin's desires and instructions. This is the point which seems to interest the Rumanian Government more than the prospect of selling a bumper wheat crop to Germany—and taking pay in guns that explode when they are fired or in Reichsmarks of doubtful value anywhere and undoubted worthlessness in a good many countries. King Carol and his advisers have declined the specious proposals of Herr Clodius.

Of all the neutral states which live under the shadow of the Nazi threat, Rumania has the most difficult road to travel. Thus far it has played the diplomatic game with skill, daring and success, and is still master of its own household. Encouraged and emboldened no doubt by the presence of the large and growing Allied army in Asia Minor and the quite outspoken declaration of the Turks that they will fight if the Balkans are invaded.

Observers at Washington suspect Berlin's new "white book" will not help to bring about better relations between the United States and Germany. They probably mean that the publication has effectively killed the prospect—if there was any.

Already death has broken the ranks of the newly elected members of the House of Commons. Rev. W. G. Brown, who was elected in Saskatoon by a very large majority as a United Reform candidate, died in Ottawa on Monday. Sickness had prevented him taking any part in the campaign, and his victory was on that account a peculiar mark of the esteem in which he was held. Mr. Brown was well known in Alberta, having been for many years the minister of the Presbyterian church at Red Deer. In 1931 he was elected moderator of the Presbyterian church in Canada.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

War is the greatest teacher of geography. Until recent despatches told of plans to deepen the Russian canals to permit carriage of goods for Germany, how many high school students, I wonder, knew that it was possible to cross Russia from the Baltic to the Black Sea by water?

SAILING ACROSS EUROPE

Before the World War some light draught steel vessels went from England by that route. It was considered quite a feat. The vessels were small, and devoid of cargo. In some places it was nip and tuck to get them through.

From Rotterdam it is possible to cross by water through Holland and Germany by way of the Rhine and the Main and over the Juras by King Ludwig's canal, started in the time of Charlemagne, to the Danube. Negley Farson and his wife Eve did it in 1924 in a 26-foot Norfolk Broads centre-board yawl, the Flame, travelling leisurely through Holland to the Black Sea in eight months. It's a hazardous trip in several places on the Danube where there are rapids to negotiate. Through Ludwig's Canal there are 101 locks in the 107 miles. Unable to use his propellor because of weeds, Farson had to turn himself into a horse and pull his boat weighing 2½ tons dead weight on the 107-mile trip through the Juras. You can read of this fascinating eight months' trip in Farson's book, "Sailing Across Europe." He was on the staff of the Chicago Daily News at the time.

The sad accident in Halifax harbor last week when a pilot schooner was rammed by an inbound freighter with loss of nine lives, is a national loss. The port of Halifax, as one of the great outlets for Canadian products, is bound to be unusually active at the present time. Pilots cannot quickly be replaced. They serve a long apprenticeship and with navigation buoys removed in wartime, these men can hardly be replaced. One of the heaviest marine losses in the 1914-18 Great War was that of Mersey pilot boat No. 3, submarined in Liverpool Bay with 36 pilots on board. The Mersey has a tricky entrance for 20 miles in from the Bar lightship, between submerged banks that change their position.

MOURNING PILOTS' LOSS

My brother Harry was on an inbound Cunarder when word came of the disaster. The big ship, under an aged master brought back from the retired list for war service, cruised about the Irish Sea through the night, and in the early morning mist with a flood tide dashed across the Bar and up the Great Crosby channel, fearful lest she share the fate of the Lusitania.

The captain, the second mate were on the bridge with Harry at the wheel, and a couple of thousand passengers asleep below in their beds unconscious of danger. As the liner approached a right angle bend in the channel there loomed up the dredge astern of a big barque sailing in without aid of a tug. Under the strain of the hazardous voyage the old captain's nerve broke. He reached for the telegraph and signalled to stop the engines—a fatal move. A ship becomes unmanageable when she loses way, and both liner and barque would assuredly have been carried on the bank, with probable heavy loss of life.

At this instant, the second officer stepped up and took charge. Removing his captain's hand from the telegraph, he rang for half-speed, a nip and tuck he got the big Cunarder round the dangerous bend without disaster either to liner or sailing vessel.

The second mate saved the ship and many a life when he took over. There were only the three of us there. I've often thought I should have reported that incident to the directors," said Harry the last time I saw him before his death.

Chances are the second officer would prefer the incident be not made known. Men of sea quality are like that.

The destroyers of the Canadian navy are keeping watch and ward on Canada's Pacific coast. But don't forget the good work now being done by the fishermen's patrol fleet under Navy control.

A dozen or more of the newest and biggest seiners, gas-powered boats with Diesel engines of 150 to 250 h.p. are on continuous patrol off the west coast. They face stormy weather. On the part of the ocean known as "the graveyard of the Pacific," patrolling from Cape Flattery to the Queen Charlottes and the southern tip of Alaska. They are tough sea-dogs these chaps—most of them of Scandinavian breed who have followed the sea since they were boys.

All that intricate maze of rocks and shoals, banks and whirlpools that form a feature of the Pacific coast of Canada are known to them as well as most Edmontonians know Jasper avenue. They are skilled specialists in their way and afraid of nothing in the way of weather. A saga may be written some day of the doings of the fishermen's patrol fleet.

Canadian Barley

The outlook for barley in Canada is closely related to developments arising out of the war. Normal trade in barley has been disrupted, first, by the disappearance of Polish supplies, which formed an important part of world export supplies, second, by the rise in ocean freight rates and the scarcity of tonnage and, third, by certain deliberate actions such as the curtailment of imports of California barley into the United Kingdom. So far, importing countries have taken less from abroad of both feed and malting varieties and have shifted their demand from inaccessible sources to the Argentine. There are signs now that importing countries have reversed their policy and are buying again in more normal quantities. This, in itself, is favorable to a steady demand for Canadian barley. Our favorable geographical position should also become more and more significant as time goes on.

Demand for barley as a feed grain in Canada has also been affected by the war. Even before the war began the hog population had been increasing. On June 1, 1939, there were 4.3 million head of hogs in Canada compared with 3.5 million head on June 1, 1938, with the largest expansion occurring in the prairie provinces. On December 1 hog population had grown to 4,770,000 which was 34 percent above the same date in 1938. The agreement whereby Canada has agreed to ship up to a weekly maximum of 5.6 million pounds of bacon and hams up to October 31, 1940, should further stimulate production and increase the demand for barley, which is the chief feed for hogs in Canada.—James Richardson and Sons.

Another Milestone

This is the Observer is No. 1 of Volume 35, which means that the thirty-fifth year of publication has commenced. The Observer ranks as one of the oldest-established weekly newspapers in Alberta having commenced publication in March, 1906, just six months after the province was created by the Autonomy Act of the Dominion government. The population of the hamlet of Vegreville at that time was 344; shortly afterwards the village status was attained and later on, about August, 1906, the village was erected into a town.

Except for the Observer, there are practically no firms remaining in Vegreville now which were here in 1906, the nearest approach thereto being Mayor Holden's land and insurance business, the present day of the firm of Wm. and Holden. Moreover, so far as the town is concerned, there are very few citizens living here now, who were here in 1906, many of them having removed elsewhere, and many more being permanently removed by way of death.

In 1906, many real estate firms existed in the town and town lots were at a premium and changed hands freely. The enthusiastic real estate men were confident—or said they were—that in short order, Vegreville would have a population of 5,000 at least and when a land agent really warmed up to it, nothing less than 10,000 would do. Well; this is 34 years later and the town is only short 8,000 of the anticipated 10,000.—Vegreville Observer.

The Toronto Conspiracy

When war came, this Toronto combination could not adjust itself to realities which were so at variance with everything they had believed and looked for. A Government headed by Mr. King taking Canada into war beside Great Britain; a united Canada behind the Government, with Quebec in hearty agreement with the Government's policy; mobilization equipment and despatch of troops with a speed that showed the Government was not unready and not incompetent; the inauguration of a great air scheme; the establishment of highly organized supply agencies—these things to the anti-King combination were incredible. They could not be true; they must not be believed. The beating of the anti-King war drum ceased; the Colonel Blimps and their associates went on with increasing violence. By January, the lines of assault upon the King Government had been worked out by the Toronto bipartisan inner circle, and assembly in consultation with Dr. Manion. The early callin of the Ontario Legislature; the denunciations of the Ottawa Government on the floor of the Legislature; Mr. Drew's "King Must Go" harangue at Hamilton; the resolution of censure moved by Mr. Hepburn—these were the opening guns of a concerted campaign of defamation which it was planned to carry on first in a long-drawn-out parliamentary session and then in an election campaign.

At this point Mr. King surprised and infuriated them anew by what they regarded as most un-King-like conduct. The last thing they looked for from the lethargic pacific, over-patient Mr. King was a swift, counter-jolt landing on their favorite weapon of offence—the jaw. Mr. King broke up the offensive; seized the initiative; and remitted the issue directly and with no loss of time to the people of Canada, The rest is history. —Winnipeg Free Press.

TRAILERS

This winter I have seen thousands of trailer homes, in Florida and en route. America has definitely taken up the trailer mode of life.

But at what a price! Instead of a home, a single tiny compartment for all of life's uses. None of the common family freedom and usages are possible. Social and civic responsibilities are discarded. Many passing acquaintances are formed, but no permanent neighbors are acquired. Trailer life is life without roots or abiding satisfaction.

Some of us live the trailer life religiously. We are "church tramps." We have no settled responsibilities or duties. Still others are trailer-Christians in their thinking, ever on the move for some "new truth" and never planted long enough in conviction to bear fruit.

Dear Lord, we pray for more stability in our thinking and in our relationships. Save us from our restlessness, and make us disciples to be counted on. Amen.

Read Ephesians 4:1-16.

The generations come and go, but the institutions of our government have survived.—Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes of U.S. Supreme Court.

Chicks at Easter

Editor, Bulletin,—Every year at Easter large numbers of baby chicks are sold or given away to children. Those chicks are often, through ignorance, roughly handled and invariably die.

I would ask parents and others to consider this aspect of the matter and see that the practice is discontinued. It is a pretty gesture to give live chicks, but I hope you will make this appeal against the practice as it is the cause of considerable unnecessary suffering.
JAMES BARR

Your Health — By Dr. Frank McCoy

It is a good plan to have the hearing tested to find out how much of a loss has occurred, before undertaking treatment to correct partial deafness. Some physicians are equipped to make special tests of the hearing through using a machine which acts upon a principle similar to that of a phonograph. When the patient can not take a special test of this kind, he can at least test the hearing to some extent by holding up a dollar watch to the ears.

The watch should be held first on the right side with the left ear plugged, to test the right ear, and then on the left side with the right ear stopped. He is to write down the farthest distance the watch is held from the ear when he is able to hear it. If the hearing is normal, the ticking of the watch will be heard when the watch is 36 inches away from the ear. If the patient is partially deaf, he may find it necessary to bring the watch closer, and perhaps he will hear the ticking at a distance of 20 inches or so. After fasting and dieting, he should repeat the test and see how much improvement has taken place.

The earlier the treatment is started the better, but do not give up hope even if deafness has been present for a long time, as I have seen many instances in which it has been possible to bring about considerable improvement even in the advanced cases.

If there has been any destruction of the nerve, or if certain changes have taken place within the ear, there may be little hope, but fortunately such cases are comparatively rare and in most cases, partial deafness is due to catarrh. Banishing the catarrh may induce a complete return of the hearing, or at least enough of a return so that the patient will get along fairly well.

Insofar as banishing the catarrh is concerned, one of the most effective method I have found is the fasting and dieting method.

There are several local treatments which may be used along with the fast. Manipulative treatment given to the back of the neck will be of benefit by bringing about a better lymphatic drainage.

Massage treatments given to the nasal membranes may help. Or, "blowing out" the Eustachion tubes to clean them of accumulated mucus may help.

When local treatments bring temporary improvement, this is a hopeful sign and the patient should persevere with both the local treatment and the dieting until he finds out how far the hearing will return. I advise everyone troubled with partial deafness to try these methods before giving up hope.

Readers desiring my article on Defective Hearing are welcome to send for it by writing to me enclosing a self-addressed envelope and 4c in stamps. Some general fasting and dieting instructions will also be sent along with the article to those writing in and saying they want this information.

McKenney On Bridge

By WM. E. McKENNEY, America's Card Authority

It is often said by the expert that if you make all the slams you bid, you are not bidding enough slams. If you get every contract you double, you are not doubling often enough. If, however, you arrive at a slam contract which should be defeated, but the opening lead gives you a chance to make it, then I believe your partner has a right to raise a penalty if you misplay the hand as the declarer did on today's hand.

Against the six heart contract South opened the trump. Declarer took the second round of trumps and then found that he could not make his contract.

He should play the nine of hearts from dummy on the first trick, and when North does not cover, cash the king of clubs, lead the small club to his queen, then trump a small club in dummy with the king of hearts. Then if he takes the second round of trumps, he will still have a trump left in dummy to ruff his losing diamond, after discarding the king and three of diamonds on his good club.

Sunshine Shafts

"I say, Smith, old man, could you spare me an hour of your time?"

"Why, certainly. The wife says she will be ready in a minute."

An old man and a young man, meeting in a train, discussed many topics, all of which the young man was ready with a complete exposition. At last the old man, impatient, said: "Young man, I think that between us we know everything."

"Yes," retorted the old man. "You know everything, except that you're an utter fool—and I know that."

Vicar (benevolently): "What is your name, my little man?"

Small Boy: "Well, if that isn't the limit! Why, you christened me!"

Although she knew there was no love lost between her son-in-law and herself, she wrote to say she was coming all of the time of his vacation." And she didn't leave him time to reply.

But as she drew near the house, she saw a big crowd. Pushing her way through, she blinked in consternation at a heap of burned debris and charred furniture.

"Dear me!" she gasped, her lips drawn tight, "never thought he'd go so far as that!"

LUMBER MILLS WILL BE BUSY THIS SUMMER

The planing mills of Western Construction Company and Whitecourt Lumber Company are to run all summer, also the camps of C. Ferro and A. Olsson, the latter for two months. A fine set of "Ides on "The Sleeping Beauty" and "The Resurrection" was presented in the local United Church by Rev. T. Snedden of Mayerthorpe. Mr. Snedden concluded service in the church Sunday morning and then hiked 14 miles to Blue Ridge to conduct a service there, in the evening.

Much game is seen in the vicility this spring. Deer and timber wolves are unusually numerous and the occasional moose is sighted. Grey and black wolves are seen almost daily in the bush north and west of town.

Old-timers are betting that the Athabasca River will flood to considerable proportions this spring, due to the great accumulation of snow and slush, together with the lateness of the spring. If warm weather comes suddenly, they say, the riverbed will be unable to hold the tremendous amount of water resulting.

CREWE URGES NEUTRALS TO DIFFERENTIATE

LONDON, April 3. — Neutral countries should differentiate between Allied infractions of international law and "acts of piracy" by the Nazis, Lord Crewe, opposition Liberal, told the House of Lords yesterday.

After Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, repealed the statement made by Prime Minister Chamberlain in the House of Commons, Lord Crewe said Germany's "criminal acts" in the present war were worse than those she perpetrated during the first Great War.

"For that reason we are entitled to ask the neutrals to realize the difference between such almost technical infractions of international law as the three-mile limit, which we may have committed or may commit, and the acts of piracy which the Germans are prepared to commit to an almost indefinite extent," Lord Crewe said.

No New Cases Of Typhoid Reported

ST. BONIFACE, Man., April 3.—Only one new typhoid case was reported in St. Boniface during the last 24 hours and health authorities expressed the hope yesterday that the current fever outbreak confined in the French-Canadian section of Manitoba had passed its peak.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., April 3. — The latest recruit to the Australian Imperial Forces is Rudolph, a white Angora rabbit, who loves beer and eats anything.

DUTCH PROTEST ATTACKS UPON FISHING BOATS

AMSTERDAM, April 3. — The Netherlands government instructed its minister in Berlin yesterday to make strong representations to the German government against attacks on Dutch trawlers by Nazi warplanes.

The minister was directed especially to call attention to "completely intolerable acts of violence against the (fishing) trawler Protinus by which four lives were lost." The Protinus was bombed and sunk in the North Sea March 25. A British ship rescued eight of her crew.

Protest also was ordered registered against bombing attacks last Thursday on The Netherlands fishing trawler Visking Bank and Isgroen, which escaped damage.

NAZI SHIP LINE SETTLES BRITISH OIL FIRM CLAIM

MIAMI, Fla., April 3—A compromise settlement of a British oil company's claims against the German freighter Arauca, chased into nearby Port Everglades by a British cruiser, was made known in federal court yesterday.

Judge John W. Holland signed a decree awarding the Asiatic Petroleum Co., Ltd., London, $141,069, interest totalling $2,999 and court costs to settle its claim of $153,000 against the Hamburg-American line, owners of the Arauca.

The German and British companies, it was stated, had agreed on the settlement, which attorneys said would release several other German vessels now detained by libel actions in South American ports. All the actions, including the one here, revolved around fuel oil purchases by German ships prior to the outbreak of war.

Winnipeg Russian Paper Is Banned

OTTAWA, April 3.—An extra edition of the Canada Gazette, issued yesterday contained an order from Justice Minister Lapointe, in his capacity as acting secretary of state, prohibiting publication of the Russian language paper Kanadsky Gudok (The Canadian Whistle) at Winnipeg. The order was issued under defence of Canada regulations preventing dissemination of subversive propaganda.

Canine Gunga Din Saves Life Of Australian

British United Press

SYDNEY, N.S.W., April 3. — This story of a four-footed Gunga Din comes from Winton, central Queensland. Water soaked up in a flannel shirt, carried by a dog from a waterhole, saved the life of James Donald, 56, an injured kangaroo-shooter.

After crawling half a mile with his right leg fractured, caused when he was thrown from his horse, Donald lay for several hours 400 yards from the waterhole, with the temperature at 114 degrees in the shade. His dog went to the waterhole, lay down in it, and then returned to him. Taking off his flannel shirt, Donald tied it round the dog and sent him to the waterhole. When the dog returned, Donald squeezed the soaked shirt and obtained enough water to ease his parched throat.

Donald then decided to improve the idea. He tied his boots round the dog's neck in the hope that when the dog again went to the waterhole, he would return with the boots full of water. Apparently the dog considered this an outrage to its dignity. He lay down and would not go back to the waterhole. Threats and petting failed to move him.

Donald was found several hours later calling deliriously for water. He said that he owed his life to the dog and the flannel shirt, as he would have died from thirst without the moisture the dig brought.

GARNER FAILS IN CHALLENGE TO ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, April 3—President Roosevelt and Thomas E. Dewey emerged today as easy victors in Wisconsin's presidential primaries, but the complicated balloting system may cut into their share of National convention delegates.

NEW YORK, April 3—Garner forces failed yesterday in their challenge to Roosevelt third-term sentiment in New York's primary election.

Incomplete but apparently decisive returns late last night from the only four congressional districts in which they opposed organization designees indicated that Garner candidates for election as delegates to the Democratic national convention had been soundly defeated in each case.

The regular designees — Tammany's and those of the allied Democratic organizations — while not formally committed are expected to support a third nomination for President Roosevelt, if he wants it.

At the same time, in the only contested district among the Republicans where opposition to Thomas E. Dewey, presidential aspirant, was a direct issue, candidates pledged to oppose his nomination were defeated badly.

Russian Arctic Navigation Shows Sharp Increase

MOSCOW, April 3.—The northern sea route administration yesterday reported that Arctic navigation had exceeded expectations in 1939 and announced plans for a 12-per-cent increase in traffic from the Arctic ports to the Far East this year.

The report, presented to the Soviet of Nationalities, upper house of Russia's parliament, disclosed new Arctic ports are under construction at Dikson Island and on Tisky and Providence Bays. It said also two big new icebreakers of the type of the recently launched Joseph Stalin had been completed for Arctic service.

Germans Deny Sub Sunk By British Ship At Trinidad

BERLIN, April 3.—The German news agency last night denied reports a German submarine had been sunk near Trinidad in the West Indies by the armed British tanker El Cervo.

"From good authority we learn that no German submarine was in that region and if a submarine was sunk it was not German," the agency said.

Seamen aboard the Cervo, at Halifax, N.S., Monday expressed belief that the tanker's gun had sunk a raiding submarine near Trinidad March 4.

CREWS RESCUE KIRKLAND LAKE BURIED MINER

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont., April 3. — Percy Robinson, 22-year-old miner, was rescued from beneath 500 tons of rock in the Chesterville-Larder Lake mine last night after being imprisoned for 22½ hours. He was in good physicial condition.

Rescue workers were near exhaustion when they reached Robinson who was trapped near the mine's first level early Tuesday morning about 150 feet below the surface. Examined by a doctor, Robinson was permitted to join his mother and two brothers at the nearby family home.

Mine officials said they did not know the cause of the slide which occured about midnight MST Monday. Tom Palmer, fellow worker with Robinson, was buried to the waist but was freed by rescue workers earlier.

GRAINGER BOY IS VOTED BEST CATTLE JUDGE

Major Beaton

CALGARY, April 3. — Howard Macdonald, Grainger, topped more than 60 youthful stock judges at the annual Calgary stock show yesterday to win the grand championship for junior judging. He wins the D. E. Black challenge shield, offered annually in this event.

Runner-up by the champion was Billy Yule of Carstairs, who chalked up a total score of 1,194 in the class for judging heavy horses, for boys under 14, and Howard Macdonald placed first in judging light horses in the same age class.

A 16-year-old girl, Helen Morrison of High River, showed the boys how to pick them and why, when she topped the heavy horse judging class for boys and girls between 14 and 17.

Norman Simpson of Airdrie took top place in the 14 to 17 class in judging light horses, John Yellowlees, Crossfield, placed first in the same age class from judging beef cattle, and Gordon Ward of Okotoks copped the beef judging prize for boys under 14.

DISEASE THREAT STALKS EASTERN FLOOD SECTIONS

WILKES BARRE, Pa., April 3 — Threat of disease-dread aftermath of disastrous floods—stalked weary Riverside communities in eastern Pennsylvania today as high waters subsided and the first of thousands of refugees began returning home.

Only a forecast of more rain tempered a worried-sincere feeling that prevailed along a 150-mile stretch of the Susquehanna river where at least 30,000 families were driven to higher ground by a three-day assault of turbulent waters.

Meanwhile a new hazard was created in Kingston, across the river from here, when two 8,000 gallon gasoline tanks were toppled by the current, spilling gasoline over the floodwaters. National Guardsmen and firemen with equipment mounted on rafts stood by to guard against an outbreak of flames.

Three refugee children were stricken with scarlet fever yesterday. A pool of typhoid fever vaccine was set up here for secondary inoculations. National works projects administration officials were asked to provide tons of chloride of lime for disinfecting use.

Taggart Warns Against Boosting Hog Production

REGINA, April 3.—Hon. T. G. Taggart, Saskatchewan minister of Agriculture and chairman of the Canada Bacon Board, warned farmers yesterday not to be too quick in boosting their hog production in the belief that there would be better prices, and bigger demand.

Certain known factors, and other unknown factors may work to alter the present position, Mr. Taggart said.

WITNESS SAYS ACCUSED TOLD ABOUT KILLING

Mountie Slain To Protect Secret Of Plan, Court Told At Hearing

SHAUNAVON, Sask., April 3.—Robert Ross testified at the preliminary hearing Tuesday of Vincent Richard Greenlay, charged with murdering Sergeant A. Barker of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in a Shaunavon hotel rotunda March 16, that Greenlay admitted to him he killed the officer to protect the secret of a plan for world salvation.

Robert Ross, son of Chief Constable Jones Ross of Shaunavon said Greenlay made the admission during a conversation they had while he guarded the prisoner in R.C.M.P. cells at the jail.

Young Ross said the southern Saskatchewan rancher gave him the idea that he (Greenlay) had gone to Barker in a Shaunavon hotel to obtain aid in spreading a plan for world salvation. But, Ross continued, Greenlay declared Barker was "fiendishly clever" in eliciting this plan from him and he had killed Barker to protect the secret. Barker was a "bad man" Greenlay had charged, the witness said.

Lieut. Victor Vau Allen of the 14th Saskatchewan Light Horse, said he drove Greenlay to Shaunavon several hours before Sergeant Barker was shot fatally. Greenlay spoke of having a mission from God to prevent sale of horses and of planning to stop France from buying horses in Canada, Lieut. Van Allen said.

WEST CANADA FULLY BEHIND CANADIAN "Y"

MONTREAL, April 3.—Returning to Montreal after a flying trip to nine cities in western Canada, including Edmonton, Major A. G. L. Beaton, war services secretary for the Canadian Y.M.C.A., expressed confidence that western Canada will be 100 per cent behind the Canadian "Y" in its efforts to serve the men of Canada's armed forces, at home, in Great Britain and in the theatre of war.

Major Beaton travelled by rail and air to visit Victoria and Vancouver, Calgary, Lethbridge and Edmonton, Regina, Saskatoon, Brandon, Winnipeg and other centres and completed his western trip in the record time of 13 days.

"Everywhere," Major Beaton declared, "I found that the Y.M.C.A. campaign officials are receiving enthusiastic support from citizens in all walks of life. Standing on their national appeal for funds to be used exclusively for Canadian soldiers, sailors and airmen, we have received a heartening response from national men and educationists in each province. But with them, and this is equally important, we have the great body of Canadians who realize how important Y.M.C.A. services are to the men away from home."

The western provinces are making great contributions to Canada's war effort, Major Beaton concluded, and the Y.M.C.A. share in that effort is assured of strong support.

Major Beaton's trip was preliminary to the national drive opening April 15, campaign details for which are now completed and for which thousands of workers have been enrolled across the Dominion.

Autopsy Surgeon Decides Actor's Death Is Natural

HOLLYWOOD, April 3. — An autopsy surgeon decided yesterday that Walter Miller, veteran motion picture player, succumbed to heart trouble but an inquiry into "eastern hoodlums" trying to "muscle in" on movie extras was in progress.

Miller, 47, died Saturday following a camera fight scene. Studio officials said he was performing in closeups after a vicious battle Thursday in which neither he nor his opponent "pulled their punches."

Pelley Planned To Make Himself U.S. "White King"

WASHINGTON, April 3—A blond secret agent for a former House of Representatives investigating committee testified yesterday that William Dudley Pelley, the Silver Shirts leader, told her he planned to lead a march on Washington and become the "white king" of the United States.

The witness, Dorothy Waring of New York, appeared before the Dies committee with Representative Samuel Dickstein (Dem., N.Y.) chairman, who testified that Pelley had been tied up with certain army officers in a fascist effort to overthrow the government.

Debunker

In Cremona, Italy, where violin makers still carry on the work of the same school founded by Stradivarius, master draftsmen have tended the old idea that the quality of the famous violins was due to a secret varnish used on them. It was found that instruments with secret varnish sounded just as good as those with the varnish. They concluded that the chief virtue of the varnish "is to preserve the wood indefinitely." Varnished violins retain good tone quality longer than unvarnished ones, but modern varnishes were found to be as good as that of Stradivarius for this purpose.

PATRIOTIC COLORS

While spring fashions definitely do not feature the military, patriotic colors are exceedingly popular in early collections. If navy is selected for a basic color, white and red will be smart accents. If one is of the vivid, dark-haired type, and red is the basic color, accent with blue and white.

Right or Wrong About People

By DONALD A. LAIRD
Ph. D., Sc. D.

The U.S. is getting to be one of the marryingest countries in the world. Steadily, since 1890, there has been a lower percentage of old maids in the population. In other words, girls have had increasingly better chances of getting married. Leap years have had nothing to do with this.

Dr. Laird

People are also getting married younger than they did only a few years ago, but even at that, not as young as they used to in grandfather's time.

One reason for both fewer old maids and for marrying younger is the fact that more married women are working now than ever before in history. This year there are a million or so more working wives than there were 20 years ago.

Around 1949, there will be a peak in marriages in this country, due to the large numbers of young people who will be of the right ages then. These are the children who were born as the result of the flood of marriages after the first World War in 1920, when Johnnie came marching home from overseas and contentment.

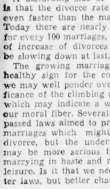

Again, some 25 years after 1945, there should be a corresponding peak in marriage rates. Ministers and justices of the peace can look forward to better business in 1949 and again around 1970.

A disturbing side of this picture is that the divorce rate is growing even faster than the marriage rate. Today there are nearly 18 divorces for every 100 marriages, but the rate for decrease of divorces appears to be slowing down at last.

The growing marriage rate is a healthy sign for the country, but we may well ponder over the significance of the climbing divorce rate which may indicate a weak spot in our moral fiber. Several states have passed laws aimed to prevent hasty marriages which might result in divorce, but the underlying cause may be more serious than merely marrying in haste and repenting in leisure. Is it that we need, not better laws, but better characters?

Don't Let Nervousness Undermine Your Charm

Meet Little Upsets Radiantly

Nervous, high-strung, she can't stand the little upsets of normal life. Her husband brings a friend home for pot luck, a cleaner is late with a dress—and she could scream!

Such extreme edginess is a warning signal. Nerves allowed to become unstrung, may, may soon make any sort of existence a form of torture.

What is needed often is a change in activity, perhaps in diet. And when nerves are understood life may become pleasant indeed. For the successful neurotic is more colorful, charming than placider types. Upsets, shocks? You take them in your stride once a healthful vitality is gained.

So, if you have strained your nerves by dashing from one thing to another all day, try relaxing and doing nothing. If you work at a desk, play badminton or ping-pong in the evening.

And check your diet. Lack of calcium may cause irritability; more milk, eat cheese to be sure you get enough of this mineral.

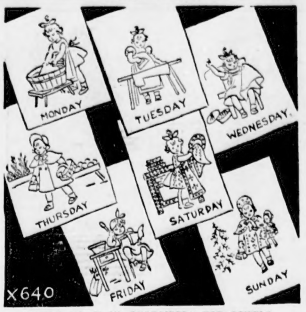

To outwit your "nerves," enjoy life get our 32-page booklet. A well-known physician explains underlying physical and mental causes of insomnia, fretfulness, other nerve troubles. Give correct diet, body care.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "Overcoming Nerves' and Everyday Health Problems," to The Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service, Edmonton, Alberta. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Ginger, Coffee Bread Is Simple, Quick to Make

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

There are 48 states in the American union, and each state has its best cooks. How do they bake? The three Browns—Cora, Rose, and Bob—popular collectors of good recipes, have just written "American Cooks," which is a collection of practical recipes from every state in the union. Here are two sweet members from their All-American baking hints:

IDAHO HONEY GINGER BREAD

One-half teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon ginger, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, 3 eggs, 1 cup strained Idaho honey, 1 cup sour cream, 4 cups flour, 2 teaspoons soda.

Sift spices and salt with sugar. Beat eggs into this. Then beat in the honey and cream. Sift flour and soda together and stir in until mixture is quite stiff. Bake in well-greased pans in moderate oven.

Fine, hot or cold.

CINCINNATI COFFEE BREAD

One-third cup sugar, 1-3 cup butter, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup scalded milk, 1 yeast cake, dissolved in ¼ cup lukewarm water, 2 eggs, beaten slightly, flour.

Stir sugar, butter, salt, and scalded milk in a bowl and let cool to lukewarm before mixing in the dissolved yeast, the lightly beaten eggs, and flour enough to make a stiff batter. Let this rise until you have twice the original bulk. Cut the batter down and beat it well, then fill two round cake tins with it, and sprinkle well with almond crumb mixture.

Two tablespoons sugar, ¾ teaspoon cinnamon, ¾ cup soft crumbs of stale bread, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 3 tablespoons chopped, blanched almonds.

Even the yeast reflects state patriotism, for the first compressed cake to lighten the chore of baking was invented shortly after the Civil War by Charles Fleischmann at Riverside, then a village near Cincinnati.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Stewed apricots, crisp bacon, Cincinnati coffee cake, bread with almond crumb topping, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Fresh vegetable salad, French dressing, ham rolls, cheese, Idaho honey ginger bread, tea, milk.

DINNER: Pineapple juice with fresh mint, chicken fricasee, dumplings, new carrots, asparagus, chocolate cup custard, coffee, milk.

An Italian woman gave birth to twelve children in 11 months; twins were born one June and triplets a year later, the following May.

Dorothy Dix Says:

When an elderly man awaps an old wife for a new one, public sympathy goes to the abandoned woman who has borne her husband children and toiled and scrimped to help him make his fortune and who is ruthlessly cast aside for a fresher and fairer face.

But, in reality, your pity should go to the man who makes so sorry a bargain. For of all the unhappy people in the world none are so hopelessly miserable as the old husbands of young wives with whom they have not a single thing in common and who, they know only too well, married solely for their money.

Worse still, the old husband is filled with self-contempt for having been so easily gypped by a mere girl.

The awakening comes soon. The little flare-up of youth that made the man an easy victim for any predatory gold-digger is a false fire that soon burns out, and the man wants to go back to domesticity and to his age. He wants his own fireside, the quiet and comfort of a home and somebody to bear him company. But this is not what the young wife married him for. She wants her fling.

When they try to talk they bore each other to tears, for they have no common memories, no experiences that they have shared together, no mutual friends, no similar points of view, none of the ties that bind. Then the old man thinks with passionate regret of the wife and children he has had never failed through all the years. Who had struggled and fought shoulder to shoulder with him. Who had only thought of his interest except in him, and of the children whom he has alienated from him by his treatment of their mother. Of the old friends who treat him with scarcely veiled scorn. And he knows that he has sold his birthright for a mess of pottage, and it is bitter in his mouth.

DOROTHY DIX

What To Do

Each year I visit a family in a town where I formerly lived, whose son was a college chum of mine. He has an unmarried sister of my age, who, like myself, does not go steady with any one. If I attend the theatre, a dance, concert or any public social function am I under moral obligation to escort her or am I free to go with other girl friends?

A READER.

Answer: When a guest in the home of your chum, you naturally would show his sister every courtesy and consideration and take her to a few entertainments, but certainly it is not obligatory to invite her to all the affairs you attend. Give enough of your time to avoid any appearance of neglect, but not enough to give your chum's sister or her family a false idea of any serious intentions on your part. In all probability she is no more desirous than you that there should be any appearance of an affair between you. By all means share your time with some of the other girls you know in your old home town.

Clear Reds Are Makeup News Of the Season

By ALICIA HART

Waved pompadours, achieving fullness and height above the forehead, were worn with old-fashioned, off-the-face bonnets.

Tiny flower hats were posed atop upped, not exaggeratedly upswept coiffures.

WINTER WRAPS HIDE SPRING OUTFITS

The Easter parade this year was a beauty, rather than a fashion, show.

Fur coats concealed new suits and ensembles, but the nicest Easter bonnets didn't hide new hair-do's. As a matter of fact, complexions and hair were highlighted for the first Easter in years. You couldn't see clothes, so you looked at faces.

Any beauty editor who shivered on the sidelines Easter Sunday will lay a two-to-one bet that nine out of every ten really chic women had on a foundation cream, lotion or film underneath rouge and powder. Only by use of foundation is it possible to attain that satiny, luminous quality which was distinctly prevalent.

CLEAR RED ROUGE LEADS ALL OTHERS

A perfectly lovely brunette, in a chartreuse wool suit which showed slightly below her full-length mink coat swung open, wore wine-red lipstick and nail lacquer, a corsage of wine-red carnations and a tiny hat, finished with matching fresh flowers.

The only equally stunning blonde, in a hyacinth-blue wool suit under a short silver fox jacket, wore a white hat, trimmed with hyacinths, a fresh hyacinth on her coat, accurate lipstick and the merest suggestion of rouge. Last year, she would have chosen orchid lipstick to match the hyacinth-blue shade. But this is 1940. And clear reds are the makeup news of the hour.

But yet, as bad as my condition had become, your Mosby's Tonic began helping me before I had finished half of my first bottle. New York Stocks

NEW YORK, April 3—Resuming a spring advance, the stock market stepped forward today in the heaviest trading since last autumn.

A surge in United States Steel to 62, highest in weeks, aroused the whole market and many shares rose fractions to more than 3 points.

Steels, motors, chemicals and rubbers drew the main force of the buying. Air lines ran into profit-taking but rallied toward the finish.

Broomhall

Monday's advance was not sustained yesterday although there were reports of unfavorable dust storms in many parts of Kansas. The continued hedging of reduced wheat is a counteractive to the crop scare news and with small flour sales there is not sufficient buying power to advance prices beyond a conservative level. Stocks of American wheat in elevators total 106,000,000 bushels compared to 82,000,000 bushels last year, 55,000,000 bushels in 1938 and 35,000,000 bushels in 1937 on April 1st. This is a large figure and when farm and elevator stock figures are released later on this month, it is expected that while the total in all positions may be smaller than last year, it is likely to be well above average. Quantities of Plate wheat on passage to the continent are small and with freight dear and difficult to obtain, neutrals may become more dependent on the U. S. and Canada as the season progresses. Hopes of large spring shipments from Rumania are receding. Practically the only wheat now leaving the Rumanian seaboard is for Spain and Italy in fulfillment of previous contracts. Overland exports to Germany are temporarily suspended while the Rumanian government investigates the amount of grain remaining for home needs.

WHEAT FUTURES PRICES STEADY

WINNIPEG, April 3. — Improvement in crop conditions over the spring wheat areas forced liquidation on Winnipeg grain exchange today but strength in United States wheat and securities supplied speculative buying to balance the market.

Closing quotations were ⅛ higher to unchanged, May at 88⅞, July 90⅛, and October 91⅝.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., April 3—Fear was expressed today for the safety of the Newfoundland schooner Whitecoat and her crew of eight, under Captain Isaac Young.

The Whitecoat left Twillingtae, on the east coast, three weeks ago on a sealing voyage and has not been reported since. An oil barrel marked "Ashbourne's, Twillingate," found on an ice cake, first aroused anxiety for the vessel.

Dictators Plan 'Divvy' on Balkan Influence

Slicing of the Balkan pie, going under the diplomatic title "neutralization of southeastern Europe," would give pieces above to Benny, Adolf and Joe. Plan reportedly discussed by Hitler and Mussolini at Brenner Pass provides for this division of influence and would give Russia use of Rumanian ports to make the Black Sea a Red lake. Turkey and Greece, being the crust, are presumably left alone because heavy allied spicing there might produce indigestion.

GOVERNMENTS OF ALLIES AID WAR SERVICES

OTTAWA, April 3.—The British and French governments are keenly interested in the educational program of the Canadian Legion war services and are co-operating wholeheartedly, Brigadier W. W. Foster, director of Auxiliary Services, National Defence Department, said here yesterday.

Speaking to a meeting of educationists representing the Legion and the Canadian Association for adult education, Brigadier Foster said the British war office has incited the Legion's overseas director, Robert England, to serve as an ex-officio member of the council created to study application of similar facilities for the British Expeditionary Force.

It was announced the French war office, recognizing the value of the Legion's special courses in conversational and military French, has offered to attach liaison officers to the first Canadian overseas division immediately. Apart from their military liaison duties, these officers would be available as instructors in French classes.

He said many United Church missionaries have been doing relief work among victims of flood and famine areas near Peiping and Tientsin.

Apple Producers Of Nova Scotia Ask Cargo Space

KENTVILLE, N.S., April 3.—Nova Scotia apple producers and shippers at a meeting yesterday declared in a resolution that the question of finding cargo space for the export of apples from this province is "one for responsible Canadian government investigation and correction."

The meeting of representatives of the Nova Scotia Fruit Growers' Association, the N.S. Shippers' Association and the N.S. Apple Marketing Board decided to ask that cargo space be made available for 1,072,216 barrels of the 1940 crop. This would be the province's quota of 711,105 for the United Kingdom plus 361,111 "short shipped" this year because of lack of space.

British United Press

LONDON, April 3.—British newspaper dispatches reported without confirmation today that three Jugoslav ships carrying aluminum ore had been halted by the British navy in the Adriatic Sea between Jugoslavia and Italy.

The reports were carried as originating in Belgrade.

There were other reports that German vessels were loading aluminum ore at Dobrovnik, Jugoslavia, intending to take it up the Adriatic to Italian Trieste.

$1 PER POUND PRICE PAID FOR ABERDEEN ANGUS

CALGARY, April 3.—One dollar a pound on the hoof or $810 cash for one fine Aberdeen Angus animal, finished to perfection, was the top price paid yesterday when baby beef and fat stock were auctioned at Victoria pavilion.

Thomas Henderson, well known Angus breeder had the grand champion animal.

Second highest price of the day went to young Jimmy Young of Acme for his grand champion beef, knocked down at 60 cents a pound.

Prices Tuesday on the whole were better than a year ago. The top was the same $1, but the in-between average showed an improvement with 6½ cents rock bottom and only one or two at that level.

In two hours the auctioneers ran 112 animals through the ring for a net "take" of $9,186 as compared with approximately $8,278, at the 1939 spring sale of baby beef and finished stock.

REDS APPROVE APPROPRIATION FOR DEFENCE

MOSCOW, April 3.—Largest defence appropriation in the history of the Soviet Union was approved unanimously by the supreme soviet today as it adopted the government's 1940 budget.

The budget provides for defence expenditures of 57,000,000,000 rubles, well above last year's record figure of 40,885,000,000 rubles.

(The national value of the ruble is 20 cents, but the currency is not quoted on regular foreign exchanges and therefore there is no basis for an accurate conversion of the ruble in terms of the dollar.)

The new budget provides for income of 183,954,633,000 rubies, and expenditure of 179,913,376,000 rubles, including the defence item.

PENNSYLVANIA FLOOD WATERS ARE SUBSIDING

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 3.—Flood waters which have claimed six lives across Pennsylvania and left thousands temporarily homeless subsided an inch an hour last night.

A forecast of rain permitted no let-up in the fight against the swirling tide—a fight of men and materials extending from this anthracite city of northeastern Pennsylvania west and south down the valley of the Susquehanna toward the Maryland border.

The feeling persisted that "the worst is over." But the flow still spread over low-lying industrial sections of Kingston, Pittston, Plymouth, adjoining Wilkes-Barre. Upwards of 6,000 sought higher ground in this region alone.

Damage was extensive. Mud and water alone caused heavy losses to machinery, furnishings and residence and business buildings.

Departure Approved

MAJOR AWARDS ARE RATIFIED AT UNIVERSITY

With annual examinations in the offing, student activities at the university are coming to a rapid close. Tuesday evening the 1939-40 Student Council held its last meeting and closed the business of the year and initiated its successors into council procedure.

Major business of the session was ratifying the awards made by the Literary Association. For the first time the Literary Association this year instituted major literary awards which take the form of rings. These major award rings are for outstanding services to the various literary societies on the campus.

This year, five of them have been awarded to Margaret Hutton of Calgary for her work in the Philharmonic Society; Jack Porter of Calgary who organized and leads the University Band; Vincent Hillyard Vernon, B.C., for dramatics; Jack Bradley and James Saks of Edmonton for their services in Philharmonic and Dramatic Societies.

Of lesser importance but equally coveted, the executive also awarded twelve Literary "A" pins to various students for their work in dramatics, debating, band, philharmonic and the Political Science club.

UNIVERSITY DRAMA PLAN IS PROPOSED

CBC Considers Contest Between West Groups; Rupert Visits

An inter-university dramatic contest between companies from the Universities of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba is likely to result from a visit now being paid to the western capitals by Rupert Lucas, in charge of dramatic programs for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Mr. Lucas was in the city Wednesday to confer with representatives from the University of Alberta and with city dramatic writers. He arrived here from Regina where he acted as adjudicator in the drama contests at the Regina festival. "There were some very good presentations at Regina," he said.

ON STAGE

Born in England and on the London and New York stages for 10 years, Mr. Lucas has been in charge of dramatic programs since the inception of the CBC. He plans to visit Vancouver and Victoria.

"We are looking forward to bigger things in the CBC," he said. "Last year we presented 450 half-hour plays of which at least 70 per cent. were by Canadian writers. Never a day passed without a drama on the network. We hope to improve the standard this year and are engaged on many adaptations of well known plays and books, including the Jalna and Whiteoaks series by the Canadian novelist, Miss Mazo de la Roche.

"Now that the 'talkies' have done away with professional drama except in the few very large cities, we have to look to the radio and to the drama contests in the music festivals to maintain the love of the drama and the standard of dramatic writing. The CBC by its daily productions of drama is providing a market for dramatic writers."

CONFERS WITH WRITERS

Part of Mr. Lucas's purpose in his western visit is to confer with writers on the needs of the CBC.

Asked if he had any comment on Maurice Colbourne's recent diatribes on Canadian play-goers, Mr. Lucas laughed and said, "That's a delicate question. All I'll say is that Mr. Colbourne was not the man to have said it."

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

About noon Wednesday it looked as though the sun were going to win a long battle with clouds and snow. The streets were ankle deep in slush and The Bulletin Inquiring Reporter felt that old feeling coming on again. So, just to check up on whether it was love or just white mice starting up and down his spine he asked a few passers by: "Do you think spring it here at last?"

THE ANSWERS

CECILE ALLEN, stenographer: After the kind of weather we've had all winter I can't see any reason for complaining. Personally, I don't care whether spring is here or not, and I'm not going to buy any spring togs until I'm really sure.

* * *

LEO MacKINNIN, agent: I saw in the paper that somebody saw bluebirds yesterday. That ought to be a sign of something. I'm cheering for spring's immediate arrival. This in-between weather isn't healthy.

* * *

ALBERT LEE, salesman: Brother, I noticed the same symptoms you complain of. But I noticed them one warm day last January when I changed into a light overcoat. I thought it must be love, but I found out it was just a cold coming on. Drink plenty of baking soda and you'll be back to normal in no time at all.

* * *

SARAH DANIELS, saleslady: I hope it is spring this time. I've just acquired the sweetest little jacket and hat you ever saw. But I don't dare wear them until I'm sure it isn't going to snow on me before I get home.

* * *

ALEX KEATING, policeman: If it's spring I hope that all the shady ones in the city are so busy thinking of flowers that they won't have time to get into trouble. I feel an attack of spring fever coming.

APPLICATIONS FOR RECOUNTS NOT RECEIVED

Action to bring about a ballot recount in any constituency or constituencies in the provincial general election of March 21 remains in abeyance, according to government officials. Although information from the southern part of the province is that recounts may be sought in Macleod constituency, where James Hartley won the seat for Social Credit and Little Bow, where Hon. Peter Dawson, speaker of the last house, was elected, applications have not yet been made.

The Election Act provides that an application for an official recount by a Judge must be filed within eight days following filing by returning officers of official declarations of voting in their constituencies.

Most returning officers filed their declarations on Monday, April 1, and therefore, applications for recounts in those constituencies must be made by Tuesday, April 9.

Deposit of $100 is required by applicants for recount, this being required to secure costs.

Hall Packed To Doors As Legion Entertains Troops From Garrison

With every available seat taken and scores standing in the aisles, the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Legion War Services Inc. was host to about 500 soldiers from the Edmonton Garrison at a concert in the Memorial Hall Tuesday night.

Welcoming members of the Canadian Active Service Force, W. R. McLaren, provincial president of the Canadian Legion, told the troops they were all eligible to become associate members of the Legion.

W. B. Elford, of Calgary, director of soldier entertainment for Alberta under War Services Inc., gave a brief outline of the work he is undertaking in the province in presenting entertainment for soldiers. At the conclusion of his address he sat down at the piano and played "The Bells of St. Mary's."

MUSIC-HALL TURN

Outstanding item on the program was a turn presented by Jimmie Grant as a music-hall artist direct from London. The artist was given a rousing reception and was called back for encore after encore.

Films shown during the evening were "The Bat Whispers," a feature picture, and two shorts.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the C.A.S.F., a newly-formed organization whose members are mothers or wives of the men serving in the active forces. The auxiliary cares for any member of a family who is in trouble or need while the husband or son is overseas.

The committee in charge of arrangements included Lt.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., garrison commandant, Wm. "Paddy" Griffin, and George E. Gleave, chairman. Lt. Figg, of the University's department of extension, was projectionist for the film showing

Through The Mill

When a couple of city slickers on skis came sliding around near her home the woman got mad, and, she went out and told them to scram off her property. When they didn't move as fast as she thought they should she upped with a brick and with a skill born no doubt of long practice and experience, let it fly. Like an arrow from William Tell's bow it sped through the air, true to its mark, smiling our hero plumb on the chin and breaking his jaw. As a result the accused is hauled into court and, instead of being praised for her skillful marksmanship, is found guilty of assaulting said visitor in a manner which caused him to suffer actual bodily harm. So the cadi ordered her to pay a fine of $20 and $11.90 costs or make a year in jail for 30 days. She's trying to get the dough.

* * *

A simple little country lass who came to the city, got out of work, couldn't find a job, and finally ended up in bad company, appeared before the cadi and pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawfully living without employment. On account of she is a good kid, the cadi gave her a chance by suspending sentence for a year and turning her over to the Salvation Army who have found a job for her. The cops say they won't be bothered with her again—all she needed was a chance to get away from the bad company and go straight.

RELIEF FIGURES IN CITY LOWEST FOR NINE YEARS

Edmonton unemployment relief rolls at February 29 showed a drop of some 20 per cent from figures at February, 1939, and the number of recipients was the lowest since February of 1931, according to information from the relief department.

At the end of February this year there were 7,976 on relief, including 1,506 single men, as against 9,961 while at the same time a year ago there were 10,214. Cost for February was $70,079 as against $89,319.

At February 28, 1931, there were 5,506 on relief and the number continued to grow from that time. The highest point was in April, 1933, when there were 12,991.

Relistments and obtaining work, as well as the farm placement scheme, which has taken care of some 90 families, are responsible for the decrease. Relief officials feel, however, that most of the oldest men are now off relief and those left are less fit to compete in the labor market.

R.C.M.P. Bringing William Collinson Here For Hearing

Wanted by R.C.M.P. here on a charge of stealing about $800 worth of fox pelts from the Manville Fox Farms early in January, William Collinson, 38, formerly a fur cutter in Edmonton, has been arrested by police in Hamilton, Ont., on a charge of vagrancy and is being held there pending the arrival of an escort who will bring him to Edmonton to stand trial. City police in Edmonton say they also hold a warrant for Collinson's arrest on a charge of theft by failing to account for monies received.

Flying Resumed As Skies Clear

Clearing skies brought a resumption of flying activity throughout the north Wednesday. Archie McMullen arrived in from Yellowknife and Hay River with five passengers in the M.A.S. plane he was flying. One of the passengers was a stretcher case for hospital. The fourth week of Canadian Airways is expected to complete a return flight from Aklavik, landing for some months at Edmonton sometime Wednesday afternoon. Yukon Southern planes were active on the Yukon run and to northern B.C.

NOISE GIVES FOLK SCARE; IT'S GADGET

When a series of small explosions that sounded like rifle shots reverberated through the 127 street and 112 avenue district about 10 p.m. Tuesday night residents of the area became nervous and called police.

Prowler Car Officers J. H. Cookson and Ken Murray investigated and found that responsibility for the sounds lay with a 16-year-old youth with an inventive turn of mind. He allowed police a contraption consisting of a length of pipe, a spark plug, an electric coil and a battery and explained that he had been experimenting with small loads of black powder. He promised police he would discontinue his experiments, and when his father guaranteed the promise, police left.

J. A. MAURICE RESIGNS POST S.C. LEAGUE

After Four Years in Office, Will Continue Private Business

Resignation of J. A. Maurice as general secretary of the Alberta Social Credit League was announced Wednesday by officials of the organization. Pending appointment of a successor, Mr. Maurice will carry on. He has been secretary of the league for the last four years.

Mr. Maurice's resignation has been accepted by the office management committee of the Social Credit League and final action will be taken at the next meeting of the board of directors.

In the provincial election of March 21, Mr. Maurice ran as the Social Credit candidate in Grouard. This is the one constituency, the result of which is still in doubt. Mr. Maurice led on the first count, but a second count is necessary and is thought to be under way now. It was the first occasion on which he had offered himself for election.

Interviewed here Wednesday, Mr. Maurice declared that his resignation as secretary of the League had nothing whatever to do with the election.

He proposes to devote his main attention to his fur farm at Jounsard and feels he can contribute largely to Social Credit welfare through activities in the field.

Police accountant H. S. Reynolds was a busy, but proud man, Wednesday morning as he finished the installation of a swanky new cash register in the city police station. The department has been doing such a big business in fines collected through the tag system—both drivers and pedestrians being involved—that it was decided to install the machine to simplify bookkeeping. It was transferred to the department from the stores branch.

K. O. CAVALIER

By Jerry Brondfield

CAST OF CHARACTERS

VAL DOUGLAS, girl sports writer, shipped on a freighter to find excitement.

EDDIE CAVALIER, a petite fighter headed for the title, has a score to settle with Val.

CAPTAIN STEVE HANSEN, skipper of the Northern Belle.

DUFFY KELSO, Cavalier's manager.

* * *

Yesterday: The new hands go to work. Duffy and Grimes with the paint crew while Eddie works out. Cavalier rebuffs Val's efforts to make friends. Mike Kelly tells Val that Cavalier has the stuff that makes champions and that she can be changing her opinion of him soon.

CHAPTER VII

VAL DOUGLAS went up on the bridge and watched Eddie Cavalier jog around deck. He ran tirelessly, effortlessly. Probably would give Glenn Cunningham a good battle over a mile, she figured.

She didn't have to be told by Mike Kelly that Cavalier was a perfect athlete. He had never smoked a cigarette in his life. He steered clear of liquor and followed Pop Grimes' instructions to the letter.

She remembered he had taken up golf just a year ago and already was breaking 80. A famous pro once had called him the ideal example of muscular co-ordination and nerves and insisted Cavalier could be playing in the National Open within two years if he wanted to concentrate on the game.

Val Douglas had long ago decided—in print, too—that Eddie Cavalier, with his dark, curly hair and handsome features, was too good-looking to be a fighter. Once she had hinted that he could have been a greater pilot as a slugger instead of the boxer he was—but that he preferred to protect his good looks.

That, in fact, was what had started the whole feud. He had never forgiven her for that and threatened to eject her bodily himself if she tried to pay a visit to his Pompton Lakes training camp.

From her position of vantage overlooking the deck, Val Douglas smiled sardonically. Here, at least, was one training camp he couldn't pitch her out of.

* * *

Duffy Kelso, spattered and smelly from paint, fixed her with a vindictive eye at lunch. "We're gonna work out on the bags this afternoon and maybe spar three rounds with Kelly. Any objections?" he inquired belligerently.

"Not at all," she answered brightly. "I'm anxious to see if his surroundings affect his ring disposition."

"I'll try not to disappoint you," Eddie said meaningly, and she wondered if he'd vent his spite on Mike Kelly. That, however, might be a boomrang. Mike Kelly, after all, was a heavyweight and still in good condition despite his long absence from the ring.

Cavalier donned Kelly's old ring togs and they fitted him somewhat grotesquely. The shoes were a half size too large but he wore an extra pair of sox to take up some of the slack.

Kelly was forced to wear makeshift garb. He borrowed a pair of sneakers from a member of the crew and cut down the legs of an old pair of trousers to serve as trunks. Both fighters wore heavy sweaters to protect them from the tangy ocean breezes.

Val could hardly suppress a snicker, they looked so funny. Duffy Kelso, noticing, tapped her on the shoulder familiarly.

"Please, lady—cut the comics. If he sees you enjoyin' this too much it'll throw him so far off he'll never get back."

While Mike skipped rope to get himself warmed up Cavalier went to work on the light bag. Coolly, expertly he beat out a rhythmic tattoo of leather on board. Faster faster he worked until the bag became an indistinct blur of motion and the noise became a flat, rolling wave that sounded like a muffled machine gun.

Val found herself admiring the sight. Eddie lifted his eyes from the bag, without breaking the rhythm and noticed the rapt look on her face. As though it were a sudden spiteful gesture he slammed the bag one terrific punch and ended the show. The gesture startled her and he smirked.

* * *

A message sent down by the radio operator interrupted the workout. "It's from Sam Golden," said Duffy Kelso, reading it quickly.

"Golden, hey? What's up?" Pop Grimes asked.

"Plenty." Duffy moaned. "He says the newspaper guys don't believe he didn't know a thing about this and they ain't even talking to him, and if I know Sam Golden, he's tearing out his hair for fear maybe they'll boycott the fight."

"But that ain't all," Duffy continued. "The state boxing commission had to be notified, of course, and they demand that we put up a $5,000 bond that we'll show up for weighin' in ceremonies on time.

"Who'll we get to dig up the $5,000 for us?" Kelso demanded. "We gotta think fast."

"We'll think about that later," Cavalier said impatiently. "I'm getting cold. Let's go Mike."

They climbed in between the ropes and Kelso and Grimes looked at each other questioningly. It wasn't like the kid to be so impatient. He was like a race horse at the post. It was something new and they didn't like it. Duffy Kelso forgot all about the $5,000 bond.

"Okay," Pop grunted, taking out his watch. "Start slow and take it easy."

Cavalier danced forward and flicked a straight left without a preliminary motion of any sort. It caught Mike on the bridge of his nose and tilted his head back sharply. Mike looked surprised and advanced more cautiously.

Val tried to read Cavalier's expression but the padded head guard he wore obscured his features. All she could see were a pair of piercing eyes and she didn't like the way they were being directed at Mike.

Mike Kelly went a good 180 pounds and there wasn't an ounce of fat on him. The years had slowed him down a little but he could still manoeuvre surprisingly well.

Kelly tucked his chin behind his left shoulder and went to work. He muscled in close and worked a short right to Eddie's ribs. Cavalier jabbed him sharply twice in the face but Mike let them bounce off and shuffled in for more.

He swung a heavy right but wraithlike Cavalier weaved away, stepped inside smartly and whistled a right across to Kelly's chin. Mike reeled back against the ropes and Cavalier followed him.

"Hey, you're supposed to be sparring," Pop Grimes roared, but if Eddie Cavalier heard he gave no heed.

He planted a savage left in Mike's midsection and then as Mike's guard came down he banged over a solid right that turned Kelly's face half way around.

Doggedly, his mouth cut, Mike hung on and tried to bring his weight into play. Eddie rocketed a right to the heart and Mike gasped. Val rushed over to Kelso and Grimes. "Pop, make him quit that! He's just letting his spite out on poor Mike."

But Duffy Kelso was already in the ring, breaking them up. "Take it easy," he ordered softly. "You okay, Mike?"

"Sure," said Mike. "Sure, I'm okay. He can hit, that boy can. Hits like a light heavy."

Val walked over to Cavalier's corner. "You're a heel," she grieved. "And I don't think I have to tell you why."

He looked as though he were going to reply hotly to her accusation, changed his mind and fidgeted with his gloves.

This And That

DEAD since the Wenstob-Warrington fight here last June for the [illegible] championship, fight interest has bloomed again around the [illegible] spots. It's tonight's battle between George Shanks and Tunney Lust that has the boys talking learnedly again about punches.

Soaking up the chatter from coffee counters and other gathering places of the clans leaves the impression that the folks are convinced that Shanks has tackled too much in Lust. The Medicine Hat scrapper is definitely the favorite with the majority.

While most of the "experts" agree that Shanks' record of 20 knockouts [illegible] 22 pro fights is evidence of punching power, they are [illegible] to belittle the calibre of the men that these kayoe wallops have been planted on. On the other hand every one seems [illegible] that Lust is a laddiebuck who knows his way around a ring.

Personally I prefer to string along with a puncher. I respect the fine art of boxing, but I don't stand in awe of it. It is secondary equipment in my book. Unless I'm all cock-eyed, Shanks has enough punching power and technique to blast his way through the Lust [illegible] prob- ably extend him more than he has yet been.

If Shanks comes through with a win, he will establish himself as a [illegible] worth watching. His next opponent then may be [illegible] the Paul brothers who have just returned to southern Alberta after an English campaign that was broken up by the war. These [illegible] in the old country and according to all reports they have a lot of what it takes.

C.A.B.A. Ready to Probe Charges by Dan Ferris

MONTREAL, April 3.—President Doug Robertson of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association said Tuesday he expects the association will be called on to investigate charges of the Amateur Athletic Union of America against Coach Percy Page of Edmonton Grads.

Robertson said he has heard nothing official yet either from Page or Dan Ferris, secretary of the United States body who said at New York the A.A.U. has ordered U.S. teams not to play Edmonton so long as Page is connected with the world women's basketball champions.

As Fiery Hockeyists Go Berserk

Nine Toronto players and eight Detroit players received $25 fines as a result of a wild fistic battle which climaxed the Stanley cup playoff game in Detroit, which saw the Leafs oust the Red Wings by a 3-1 victory. Fights were numerous all through the game and the penalty box was kept filled, but in the last dying seconds of the game a general battle involving all players on both teams took the spotlight. Flaring tempers were brought to a fever heat when Orlando of the Wings slashed and cut Horner across the neck with his stick in the third period. Horner is shown down on his knees as Goalie Broda tries to reach Orlando. High sticks and rough play was the rule of the game.

Punching Power of George Shanks Meets Test in Tunney Lust Tonight

TONIGHT at the Memorial Hall, George Shanks will get a chance to show whether or not the punching power he has shown with 20 knockouts in 22 pro fights is sufficient to beat the ring craft of Tunney Lust of Medicine Hat, a battler who has fought his way to heavyweight ranks from a feather.

Lust arrived last night, apparently in the pink of condition and eager to tangle with Shanks.

"I've never seen this Shanks fighting, but it seems he packs quite a punch. I'm not popping off to tell anybody that I'll cool him off in any particular round, but I'm dead sure I can win," was Lust's declaration.

Shanks is equally certain he can blast his way through whatever defensive armaments the Medicine Hat man carries. He is in almost perfect condition from a month's training here. Daily work with fast light men has speeded him up and he has developed a wicked left hand since Edmonton fans last saw him in action.

This main event is scheduled for 10 rounds. Supporting it, Promoter [illegible] has arranged a card that [illegible] plenty of furious punching and probably a knockout or two.

Popeye Harding and Arnold Janiten meet in a special four-rounder, while Jimmy Rimmer will be matched with either Dan Estes or Hector Vancello in the curtain raiser for four rounds.

LEAFS MOAN AS 'BREAKS' FAVOR RIVALS

BY H. M. PETERS

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, April 3.—"That was the break—we out-played them in the overtime until that lucky shot," said coach Dick Irvin of Toronto Maple Leafs in a gloomy dressing room a minute or two after the movie-finish to the Toronto-Ranger Stanley cup game.

Across the corridors in Madison Square Garden, a happy but thoroughly bumped-about New York Ranger squad almost pulled the jersey off Alfie Pike as they congratulated the Winnipeg youngster who netted the overtime goal.

LEAF ROOM COLD

The atmosphere in the Leaf room was frigid. The boys were bitter that their closing rush in the third period and throughout the overtime fell short of victory.

"We had a dozen grand chances in the overtime, and they had just two," said Irvin. Otherwise there wasn't a sound but a muttered threat from the corner about what will happen tomorrow night.

Irvin had no injuries of any importance to report. He used Syl Apps sparingly, alternating him with Nick Metz at centre between Drillon and Davidson. Bingo Kampman took a few heavy bumps into the boards but always came back for more.

Rangers began their celebration before they even left the ice. Rosy-cheeked young Pike was dragged to the side by players eager to pound his shoulders.

MASTER MINDS HAPPY

Lester Patrick and Frank Boucher were particularly glad that the boy came out of the game as a hero, rather than a goat.

On the principle that an aviator is always set up again as soon as possible after a crash, the Ranger master minds gave Pike all the work they could after his inept fall swept the Leafs only goal into the net.

"You know," said Patrick, "a thing like that could kill a youngster's nerve." the Silver Fox smiled as much as to say that Pike had made ample amends as far as he was concerned.

Rangers, tired but happy, expressed belief they could do it again tonight and take a two game lead to Toronto.

Freddie Miller Quits Fistic Wars

CINCINNATI, April 3—Freddie Miller, once recognized as featherweight champion by the National Boxing Association, hung up his gloves Tuesday. He lost Monday night to Berschel Joiner of Cincinnati in an eight-round technical knockout.

Miller said he is retiring from the ring. Twenty-nine years old he has fought 14 years in many parts of the world.

Alf Pike Is Hero After Being 'Goat'

By SYDNEY GRUSON

NEW YORK, April 3.—Young Alf Pike of Winnipeg, the 15th or spare man, came out for his turn on the Rangers third line just in time last night, driving home the goal that gave the New Yorkers a 2-1 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs after 15½ minutes overtime in the first game of the Stanley cup final.

Pike, playing his first season in the National Hockey League, broke it up just as the crowd of 12,437, several thousahd short of Madison Square Garden's capacity, had begun to settle down for a long spell of overtime. Both clubs were playing tight, careful hockey, seemingly ready to continue it any length of time when Pike made his move.

He gave the puck to Lynn Patrick just over the Leaf blue line, skated in front of the net and took Lynn's return in perfect position, 15 feet out. He fired so hard that goaler Walter Broda only could make a weak move with his left arm as the puck went into a top corner.

The second game of the best-of-seven final will be played here tonight, with the teams going to Toronto for the remainder of the series. Third game is scheduled there for Saturday night.

If the Rangers had lost—and they were 2-to-1 favorites in the pre-game betting—the 22-year-old Pike would have been the "goat" for he had knocked the puck into his own net for Toronto's only goal. He made up, and a bit more, when he fired the winner.

Rangers opened the scoring at 9:09 of the first period when Art Coulter, their captain and ace defenceman, took a pass-out started by Neil Colville behind the Toronto net, and flipped a short shot past Broda.

LUCKY FOR LEAFS

Less than two minutes later Dave Schriner passed forward to [illegible] the Ranger defence to Red Heron who was beaten to the puck by Dave Kerr in the Ranger nets. But Pike was coming up fast to check Heron and he couldn't stop from barging into Kerr's leg pads. The loose puck was knocked out of Kerr's pads and over the line, Heron getting credit for the goal.

OTTAWA, April 3.—Kirkland Lake Blue Devils and Sydney Millionaires played a 3-3 overtime draw last night in the second game of their best of three eastern Canada senior hockey semi-final. The Ontario champions won the first game 6-3.

Outplayed and outscored by two goals in the first period Sydney came back with two conuters in the second frame, added another in the third and saw the game go into scoreless overtime when Johnny McCreedy, former Trail puckman, notched a goal at 15:17 of the third period.

TWENTY-NINE ARE ENTERED IN HANDBALL

Twenty-nine handball experts are all set for the start of the city championship race with all games being played on the Y.M.C.A. courts. All challengers but one are "Y" representatives, Al Bloch from Concordia College being the lone visitor.

The "Y" title is also at stake with the top ranking member carrying off the Stanton trophy. For the city crown the Dunsworth cup will be awarded for a year's possession. Present holder of the dual championship is Jack Newhouse.

For those players getting knocked out in their first match a second flight will be drawn.

Here is the draw, and all contestants are asked to note that the first named in each bracket is expected to arrange the time of the match.

Three men get a bye into the second round, Arnold Koebel, Norman Patterson and Bob Molloy. First round matches are: Jack Newhouse vs. John McClary; George Docherty vs. Alf Bloch; Tom Craig vs. Harold Richard; Wilf McLean vs. Art Crockett; Bill Flynn vs. Harry Leitch; Jim Fairhurst vs. John Denison; Ross Vant vs. Jack MacKenzie; Miles Palmer vs. Ernie Watts; Bob Dredge vs. Corney Ferguson; Art Kramer vs. Jim Fromant; Joe Dwyer vs. Bill Mellon; Jim Rennie vs. Dr. A. W. Macbeth; Iri Schrag vs. Harold Merrick.

Two out of three 20 point games will constitute a match. Courts may be secured by calling the Y.M.C.A. office.

LONDON, April 3.—Mrs. Camille Evans' Royal Mail, winner of the Grand National steeplechase in 1937, strained a ligament during a training gallop and will be unable to compete in Friday's renewal of the Aintree event.

Believe It Or Not — — By Robt. Ripley

Thistles to Arrive Thursday Afternoon

WINNIPEG, April 3.—Coach Bobby Benson said today that his Kenora Thistles are heading for Edmonton and the western junior hockey final against Edmonton Athletic club confident from the "enviable achievement of just having come out of a slump."

The Thistles chose to spend their extra days, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at home in order to rest up for the gruelling series against E.A.C. in a best-of-five-game western Canada Abbott cup final which opens at Edmonton on Thursday night at 8:30 p.m. Therefore, because of the Kenora strategy, the Thistles will not arrive in Edmonton until 3:35 p.m., five hours before game time on Thursday.

"Yes, we've been in a slump since we won the south division title but I think we shook it against Port Arthur and we're plenty hot now," Benson said before his charges took the train for the west this morning.

Thistles found the punch to defeat Port Arthur 4-0, Monday and win the Thunder Bay-Manitoba round two games to one. They scraped through the first game with a 5-4 win but the fighting, if inexperienced, Port Arthur club turned the tables to even the series by an identical score Saturday.

SLUMP WAS BAD

Although they won in straight games, Benson said the club did not play "Memorial club hockey" against Elmwood Maple Leafs in the Manitoba playoffs either.

Edmonton fans will see one of the best defensive junior clubs ever developed in Manitoba. Backed by the uncanny Charlie Rayner in the nets and two defence stalwarts—Vic Lofvendahl and Bill Jurda—Thistles play a cautious, defensive brand of hockey.

The offensive is led by the first-string combination of Dick Milford and Eddie Dartnell. Pinky Melnyk carries the bulk of the scoring punch on the second line.

Benson's hockey strategy concerns the old adage: "They can't beat you if they don't score goals." His forwards par as much attention to backchecking as they do to swelling their own goal total.

Lofvendahl and Juzda on the defence and Melnyk and Doug Lewis on the second line are the only members without at least two years experience with the Thistles.

THUMBNAIL SKETCHES

Charlie Rayner, goal, is 19 years old and weighs 190 pounds. He has been in the Kenora goal for three seasons and has been chosen all-star goalie of the Manitoba Junior League for all three. He would have gone into New York Americans' farm system last fall but for the amateur ruling preventing a professional club taking juniors. He is captain of the club.

Vic Lofvendahl, 18, is a 185 pound defenceman who played with Elmwood Maple Leafs last year. He is stockily-built and an excellent blocker as well as a dangerous rusher.

Bill Juzda, 19, is the other half of Kenora's regular defence. He played his first year on any hockey club and with Elmwood Maple Leafs in 1939. He is a heady player and his timing on body-checks is nearly perfect. He also is a good rusher.

Dick Milford, 19, is the spearhead of the attack. The 155-pound centreman can shift to either side and lays his wingmen many passes.

Eddie Dartnell, 19, weighs 150 pounds and is the leading scorer of the club. Not a fast skater, he works hard and has a fine shot.

Roy White, 19, is right-winger on the first line. He does not count as many goals as Milford or Dartnell but makes up for it in defensive work.

Pinky Melnyk, 18, is Thistles' fastest man, a graduate of St. Boniface Seals juniors last year. Melnyk weighs 155 and centres the second line.

Vin Jorgenson, 19, is known as the "money player" of the club. Three times during recent playoffs he has come with seconds to play won games. He plays right wing and weighs 165 pounds.

Doug Lewis, 18, and weighing 155 pounds, is the second-string left winger. He played with East Kildonan juveniles in Winnipeg last year. He is a good goal scorer and excellent defensive man.

Ray Rimstad, 19, is the alternate defenceman. Lofvendahl and Juzda play nearly 60 minutes but Rimstad is a valuable defender when his services are needed. He weighs 173 pounds.

Joey Johns, alternate defenceman and forward, is returning to play after suffering a broken arm. He is 19 and weighs 170 pounds.

Pete Frank Hanton, 19, is an alternate forward. He weighs 160 and is noted for his shot. He usually takes penalty shots.

Phillie Players Sold To Hershey

HERSHEY, Pa., April 3.—Joe Krol and Cliff Barton, wingmen for Philadelphia Ramblers, will wear the uniform of Hershey Bears next season, Bears' management announced last night.

The purchase was made through Lester Patrick, manager of New York Rangers, who had placed six players of the 1939-40 Ramblers team, a farm club of the Rangers, on the auction block.

The Bears split $4,200 among 15 players for advancing in the semi-finals in the International-American Hockey League playoffs.

Vancouver Votes In Favor Curfew Law On Saturdays

VANCOUVER, April 3—The city council finance committee yesterday put itself on record as favoring a midnight curfew for Vancouver night clubs on Saturdays.

Alderman John Bennett, chairman, cast the vote which broke a deadlock on whether the present bylaw which calls for closing at midnight should be continued, or whether it should be amended to extend cabaret entertainment to 1 a.m. Sundays.

Two cabarets have been convicted under the law. At least one is appealing the police court ruling to a higher court.

OTTAWA, April 3—The Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association announced yesterday two more Canadian Ayrshire cows, South Craig Princess Royal, owned by J. D. South Craig Princess Royal produced 100,507 pounds milk and 4,259 pounds butterfat in eight lactation periods, while Fairfield Grace produced 106,233 pounds milk and 4,502 pounds butterfat in nine lactation periods.

CHAD SETS UP WINNING GOAL FOR PROVIDENCE

PROVIDENCE, R.I., April 3—Exerting their superiority over Pittsburgh Hornets in play-off hockey just as they did through International - American League season, Providence Reds last night scored a 4-3 victory in the first game of the Calder cup series for the circuit's championship.

However, it was not until young Eddie Ambois deflected home a shot by Johnny Chad with less than three minutes to go that Providence gained the victory.

Reds scored two goals in easy fashion in the first six minutes of play, both by Normie Mann. At the 16th minute Oscar Aubuchon took a pass from Billy Taylor to score. The Hornets tied the score on Billy Taylor's shot in the fifth minute of the second period.

Seven minutes later Pete Kelly put Hornets ahead.

Early in the third period Red Dutton tied the score and then Ambois saved the day with his goal late in the period.

The two teams meet again Thursday night.

Little Rock Girls Win Championship In U.S. Tourney

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 3—The Flyers of Little Rock, Ark., won the women's National Amateur Athletic Union basketball championship Saturday night by defeating the Nashville, Tenn., Business College team 26-13 in the finals of the 12th annual tournament.

Hazel Walker Crutcher celebrated her sixth selection on the mythical all-America team by breaking up a nip-and-tuck battle at the opening of the second half. The Flyers held a bare 11-8 margin at the intermission.

Before the third period was two minutes old, Miss Crutcher counted for two free throws, set up a close shot on a pass to Leola Barham and then scored twice herself while the Collegians were getting three points.

With the best off, Miss Crutcher wound up her night's work with a lone field goal for a total of six field goals and a perfect record of three hits from the free throw line for 15 points.

The Edmonton Bulletin has prepared a booklet containing correct wordings for "In Memoriam" notices and "Cards of Thanks." This booklet has been printed to assist those who wish—as a tribute of Love and Affection—to remember those who have passed from this world.

You will also find a number of appropriate forms of "Cards of Thanks" which are rapidly taking the place of the old style of mailing individual cards to friends.

These Booklets are free upon request. For personal service, write or phone Miss Scott. The telephone number is 26121.

WOMEN CRUSH PENDERGAST'S CITY MACHINE

KANSAS CITY, April 3.—Tom Pendergast's once all-powerful political citadel was crushed yesterday by women.

Aroused by the pleadings of a fusionist party, led for the most part by Democratic and Republican businesswomen who never before sought political office, the militant women outcampaigned and outfought the Pendergast-backed ticket into a devastating defeat in a little city election for 11 elective offices.

So crushing was the defeat that out of the race for mayor, eight councilmen and two municipal judges, the city's powerful political ticket won only one council seat, possibly two, but no more. Leading the fusionist big parade was John B. Gage, Kansas City lawyer, who won the mayoralty from Flavel Robertson by a majority of more than 20,000. Swept into office with him were four councilmen-at-large, two district councilmen and five city municipal judges.

PRINCESS MARY REVIEWS CANUCK SIGNAL CORPS

By SAM ROBERTSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ALDERSHOT, England, April 3.—Princess Mary reviewed the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals today, dressed in the khaki-shirted uniform of their colonel-in-chief.

The corps, in full battle kit, was inspected rank by rank by Her Royal Highness. Then, with Lieut.-Colonel F. E. Genet at their head, they marched past as she took the salute from a canopied, red-carpeted reviewing stand.

The Canadians were drawn up on their parade square when the Princess Royal arrived. Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton welcomed her at the encampment of the First Canadian Division and accompanied her to the reviewing stand.

When the blue and white ensign of the signallers had fluttered down from the flag staff and the Union Jack had taken its place, a trumpet band blew "God Save The King." A royal salute and the corps presented arms.

At the end of the march past the Canadian signallers removed their helmets to roar three cheers for their colonel-in-chief. Her Royal Highness then drove to the officers' mess where she took lunch with General McNaughton and the officers of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals.

Modern Puzzles

—BY GERALD L. KAUFMAN—

This is another puzzle that must be done with the cards actually on the table. Do not attempt to follow it by reading, until you have laid them out, ready for play.

The upper row may be any seven cards, laid face-down to serve as a guide for moving the lower six cards. The object is to move the lower six, one at a time, so they end up in the order: A, 2, 3, Blank, 4, 5, 6.

THE RULES

1. The 4, 5 and 6 must always move to the right.
2. The A, 2 and 3 must move always to the left.
3. Each card must either be moved into a blank space or jump over one card only, to land in a blank space.

Compare this with solution, to be given tomorrow.

ANSWERS TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE, BRICK WALLS!

To count the bricks in the upper wall, knowing the three dimensions of each, you might have labelled those extending right through the wall as 1 thick; those extending from front to back as 2 thick; and those extending a quarter through as 4 thick. Then by adding up the 1's, 2's and 4's, you would have come to a total of 34, the correct answer.

However, if you'd reasoned out the easy way, noting that both walls were 3 bricks long by 9 bricks high by 2 bricks thick, you would reach the same answer with far less trouble. This is the way to solve the problem of the lower wall WITHOUT COUNTING, by simply noting that it is the same size as the upper one.

There are 14 bricks extending right through the lower wall—that is, all the bricks that show the 2" x 4" end view, rather than the 2" x 8" side view.

Canadian Corps Packs Up Troubles As Ladies Are Guests At Concert

Packing the Empire theatre to the "gunnals," members of the Canadian Corps Association Tuesday night packed up their troubles in their old kit bags and not only smiled, but sang, shouted and generally made merry in as memorable an evening as they have spent since the organization was formed.

The reason? It was Ladies' Night and the regular meeting, originally scheduled for the Masonic Temple, was transferred to the Empire in order to accommodate the anticipated throngs. The move was justified as a large percentage of the 2,000 members of the association with their wives and friends attended.

His Worship Mayor Fry and Mrs. Fry were among the guests, and the mayor spoke briefly at the opening of the concert.

Regular business was pretty well done away with for the evening and wit, mirth and melody predominated. The boys set out to entertain the girls. And they succeeded.

Cares were banished and from the commencement until the evening wound up with everybody singing Land of Hope and Glory and Pack Up Your Troubles, it was a riot of entertainment.

"OLD BRIGADE"

"The Old Brigade" was out in force. The lads who fought and won at Vimy, Ypres, Passchendaele, and on other blood-stained battle fields of France could always sing and smile. In the 21 years and more that have elapsed since they rested on their arms east of Mons their spirits have not changed. They are still the boys that came out of the toughest barrage the Germans laid down in the whole war — at Sanctuary Wood — singing 'If You Were the Only Girl in the World.'

They proved that they could pack up their troubles even though rounding "Hell-Fire Corner" or "Na-Poo Corner."

Yes, sir, Tuesday night at the Empire recalled many an evening "Somewhere in France" where, maybe, the Dumbells with their frayed rope wigs and ballet skirts made out of sack-cloth panicked the war-weary boys with their bright songs and skits.

On the Empire stage were Corps flags, representing the various divisions, corps, troops and other branches.

STURROCK IS M.C.

As master-of-ceremonies was Edward N. Sturrock, whose ability to pep up an audience is widely-known. Ed kept things moving smoothly, leading in community singing, announcing the various turns and contributing a valuable item to the program himself.

In the orchestra pit was Red Gibbons, leading his Canadian Corps Association musicians.

After a few preliminary formalities, in which Lt. Col. F. A. Stewart Dunn, president of the association, presided, the gathering swung into a period of community singing.

Brilliance was lent to the scene when the association fife, drum and bugle band, attired in snappy uniforms, sent the entertainment program off to a good start. Rousing bugle marches, bright fife numbers with ingratiating rhythmical accompaniment from the drums, made this a valued part of the program.

Doris Thomas contributed a song and tap dance that went over in fine style and brought her back for an encore.

W. J. Angus, popular bass scored heavily with his There's a Land, Invicius and Ister The Trumpeter and Keep Right On to the End of the Road.

The Freeman Girls in a song and tap dance number got the entire audience tapping and swaying along with them and they left the stage with the plaudits of the boys and girls ringing in their ears.

COMEDY WRESTLERS

Chester Styles and Clarence Hardie put on a comedy wrestling number that brought forth hearty laughs all along the line.

Lil Arntzen, piano-accordion artist, who has many times played for Corps Association meetings, "brought down the house" with her well varied, artistically played group of selections, the boys giving a special welcome to a favorite march, Old Comrades.

Sgt. Ernest Covell, of the R.C.M.P., gave a brilliant display of magic and later supplemented this with an equally brilliant ventriloquist turn. He and his assistants won unstinted praise for their offering. Sgt. Covell has scored on many occasions with his art but never more so than on this occasion.

The Gould Family contributed an artistic group of numbers for piano, violin and cello.

Greatly appreciated by the boys was the vocal offering of Betty McCaskill.

A group of Scotch dancers, including Joyce Dobbie, Ella Davidson, Jessie Stuart and Betty Cairney brought to the Empire stage an atmosphere of the land of the heather and won the unstinted admiration and applause of the boys.

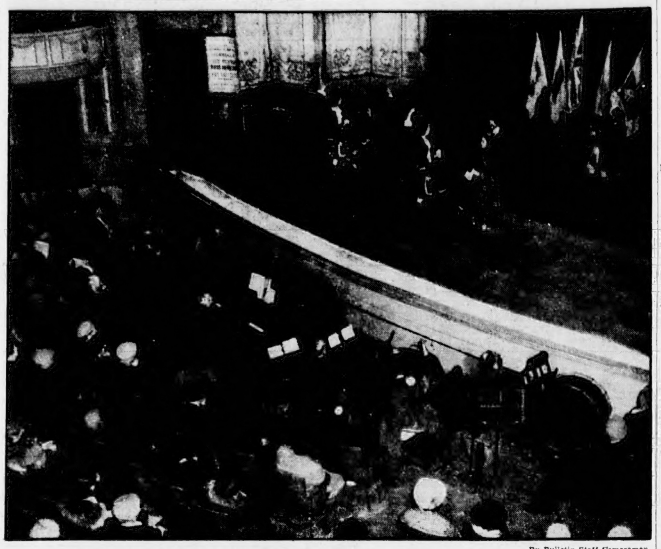

Mr. Sturrock's rendering of There'll Always Be An England will be long remembered.

Ladies' Night was a hit with the Corps Association and others are expected to be held.

Meeting Cancelled

Meeting of the management and health committee of the Edmonton Public School Board, planned for Tuesday evening, was cancelled and the questions to have been dealt with be considered at the next regular meeting of the committee.

Canadian Corps Association Fetes The Ladies

—By Bulletin Staff Cameraman

There were high jinks at the Empire Theatre Tuesday night when the Canadian Corps celebrated Ladies' Night by bringing their wives and sweethearts with them to watch a special program of entertainment. Songs, laughter and high spirits resounded through the theatre, and one of the highlights of the evening was the liltin' o' the pipes when killed Highland lassies kicked the gong around in the good old style while "Hoot Mon" echoed and re-echoed with the skirling of the pipes. The evening was voted such an unqualified success that already the boys are planning another. In the picture above the dancers on the stage are Joyce Dobbie, Ella Davidson, Jessie Stuart and Betty Cairney. The Corps' fife, drum and bugle band was also a featured bit on the program, as well as the Corps' brass band under Matt Gibbons.

HORSE BREEDER WILL SPEAK AT SOCIETY MEET

Capt. Stanley Harrison, Fort Qu'Appelle, well-known Western Canada thoroughbred horse breeder, will be the guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Edmonton and District Thoroughbred Society to be held at the Royal George Hotel on Monday, April 8, at 7 p.m.

Capt. Harrison is judging the light horse classes at the Edmonton spring show which opens Monday, April 8, and continues until April 11.

There is little that Capt. Harrison does not know about the breeding of thoroughbred horses and he has imported some of the best strains of the English race horse to Western Canada in an effort to improve the class of thoroughbred on Western Canadian race tracks.

For several years he maintained a large racing stable at Fort Qu'Appelle from which he turned out several winners of stake races both in the west and on eastern race tracks.
